both for business owners and their employees. In low-income communities, business ownership generates wealth through generations, creating a ripple effect of increased prosperity in families and communities. MCRC offers all Business Pathways programming in English and Spanish to serve the most vulnerable members of our community.

Business Pathways offers a modular training series to support entrepreneurs at every phase of business ownership, from ideation to growth and expansion. With four modules (Plan, Launch, Manage, and Grow), training covers creation of an elevator pitch and business plan, marketing, key business strategies, fiscal and financial responsibility, and more. Business owners can join the module most suited to their needs. Program success is measured through program completion rates, businesses launched, revenue generated, and jobs created or retained.

Business Pathways collaborates with local community partners to prevent involuntary displacement by supporting business owners. Additionally, we administer a ProBoPat Program, which refers qualified low-income inventors to volunteer patent professionals. ProboPat serves residents of Colorado, Montana, New Mexico, Utah, and Wyoming and is part of a nationwide network of patent pro bono services coordinated by the U.S.

Patent & Trademark Office.
