MISS VO

All American Acting Academy, LLC

Co-Founder / Vice President / Talent Coach

EDUCATION

University of California Riverside
2014 - 2017

BIOGRAPHY

In the heart of Hollywood, where dreams meet the silver screen, one name is capturing attention and shaping the next generation of talent: Miss Vo. Hand-selected by renowned Sandy Climan, the Golden Globe-winning producer behind The Aviator starring Leonardo DiCaprio and Cate Blanchett, Vo was invited to coach talent at Climan's prestigious film school to over 300 students worldwide, including television media personalities to former Miss Universe; her influence stretches across continents. It is here where she will meet and learn from her lifelong mentor, the legendary Lee Michael Cohn, widely regarded as one of the country's best acting teachers and the co-writer of the best-selling acting textbook, A Practical Handbook for the Actor.

Miss Vo's approach to on-camera coaching is nothing short of revolutionary—she masterfully intertwines the nuances of acting with the digital dynamism of social media. She has cultivated a roster of influencers boasting millions of followers, guiding them to harness their creativity and charisma for the camera.

But it's not all about the numbers; Miss Vo's magic lies in her personalized coaching style. With an infectious enthusiasm and a treasure trove of industry insights, she transforms aspiring actors into confident performers who are not just seen but truly felt. Whether it's a heartfelt monologue or a viral TikTok trend, Miss Vo ensures her students shine like the stars they are destined to be.
