

Perfume Workshop

About

You've dabbed it on your wrists and behind your ears, but did you ever think about how perfume is blended? The ancient Egyptians and Mesopotamians were creating fragrances as long ago as 3000 B.C.E. Many of those ingredients they used are still prized in perfumery today—Jasmine, frankincense, myrrh, florals, and even honey.

Did you know that it has three components called top, middle and bottom notes? A person who has a very developed ability to discern those notes is called a "nose."

Intrigued? Of course you are! Come join us on Monday, March 9 at 6:15 p.m. at the Sherman Oaks Library for a perfume workshop. Jennifer Hardaway, the owner and founder of Klean Spa, tells us that "scent is the oldest sensory system of humans and ignites feelings and memories in us all."

This event for adults is generously sponsored by the Sherman Oaks Friends of the Library.

Participation is limited to 40 people. Please register by e-mailing shrmno@lapl.org or calling or visiting the library.
