Feedback

Here are a small sample of some open comments we received in the survey:

- “I would like to add that if it wasn’t for Theorise, I would not be where I am today in my student journey. My tutor supported me in every way possible and brought on my knowledge in a very productive proactive way... As a disabled student it has been a long road and journey so far and there is still 2 years to go and will be back for further support... Your support is priceless and an asset to any student who is referred to or part of Theorise student support network.” Moray College UHI Postgraduate Student
- “My tutor has been amazing, he's the first person who 'gets it' with the kind of support I need, previously non-Theorise tutors have seen my academic scores and said 'You're fine' or 'There isn't much to teach you', which honestly led to a bit of a disaster last year. My tutor also never shied away from meeting the challenges I present to him, always coming back with new ideas and solutions. I always look forward to our meetings and he has been a great source of motivation to keep plugging away at coursework.” Open University Undergraduate Student
- “My Study Skills Tutor has been with me since my first year of university, and thanks to her, I have learned how to write exceptionally well. She has read my dreadful essay in first year and my amazing one in third year. I genuinely think that her unwavering support and guidance have been so useful in my academic journey, I would not be here all this time without her. Reminding me about planning, getting things done in time. Checking these references! My tutor has always had a personalized approach, and she has adapted her example of academic example to my understanding, which has helped me develop my writing skills significantly. She has also helped me with the pronunciation of some words that In English do not make sense for me. Luckily enough my tutor used to speak Italian, therefore she knows where my mistake came from. My tutor and Theorise has definitely had a positive impact on my learning experience and I'm grateful I had them.” Queen Margaret University Undergraduate Student
- “I cannot praise my tutor enough. She has been an utter life saver for me. She perfectly balanced professionalism and compassion. I received an adult ADHD diagnosis late in my studies and my tutor was extremely professional in not 'armchair diagnosing' or unduly pushing me in a certain direction before my diagnosis. She perfectly understands how to work with ADHD and how to encourage and support. I would highly recommend her and Theorise to others, especially women with adult ADHD diagnoses. Towards the end of my degree my tutor had to occupy an almost dissertation supervisor role due to strike action making my supervisor unavailable. My tutor was always very careful to emphasise the limits of her professional knowledge in this capacity but was always available and ready to support me. I truly believe that without their support I would have not completed my degree this year (or possibly at all).” Queen Margaret University Undergraduate student
- All I can say is that if it wasn't for the support from my Mentor I would have given up on my studies. I've had a difficult year and desperately needed some help as I really needed to complete my degree. After being referred by the OU to Theorise I have been surprised at the range of support I have received. My mentor has provided me with moral and constructive support that has helped me stay focused on the required tasks. Her emotional support has helped me deal with some difficult situations. The sessions always leave me with 'food for thought' and have found lots of relevant information as recommended. My mentor definitely knows her stuff. I feel more confident in my abilities to finish my degree whereas at the beginning of the year I thought it a near impossible task. I am truly grateful for the help I have received from my mentor. Having the ability to give emotional and academic support is a unique set of skills. THANK YOU VERY MUCH!” Open University Undergraduate Student
