The Building Process at Henning Estates: What to Expect When Building a New Ranch Home

Building a new ranch home with Seven5 Homes at Henning Estates commences with establishing a solid foundation of trust. Our primary objective is to ensure your complete satisfaction with your new home, which hinges on open communication, mutual confidence, and timely decision-making throughout the process.

Before signing your new home contract, you'll have ample opportunities to seek clarification about the building process. We encourage you to ask questions to gain a clear understanding of the costs associated with any special requests or upgrades and to estimate completion timelines. Once you sign the official building contract, you'll be well on your way to moving into your new home at Henning Estates.

Our building process allows for buyer involvement, primarily focusing on color and material selections. At various points, you'll be invited to choose features such as exterior colors, cabinets, countertops, tile, hardwood, and carpet. We aim to make this customization process enjoyable and exciting as you create your "forever home." Additionally, we invite you to attend walk-through meetings at different stages of construction, allowing you to witness the progress firsthand.

To ensure a seamless building experience, we recommend finalizing plans for any changes or upgrades promptly so your final home estimates and timelines are met.

Water Reclamation

At Henning Estates, we pride ourselves on being a conservation community. Nearly 60% of our entire community has been designated for the preservation and protection of ponds, wetlands, trees and prairie, providing a beautiful setting for you to build your home. With that at the forefront of our minds, we have chosen to invest in the cleanest, most environmentally friendly waste water management system in existence.

The EPA licensed and regulated system we have invested in offers the latest technology available surrounding community waste water. Our system is environmentally friendly, ensures the ongoing viability of our wetlands and ponds and the treatment process is completely invisible and odorless to our homeowners.

How Waste Water Reclamation Works

HOW IT WORKS:

Wastewater from the community is transferred to a series of treatment ponds. Once in those ponds, the water goes through a combination of aeration, filtration, and disinfection. This process can take up to 150 days and is nearly an entirely odorless organic process. Once the water has been treated, it is released naturally, irrigating the prairies and woodlands of our beautiful community.

ENVIRONMENTAL BENEFITS:

Discharged water is rich in nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, all nutrients plants thrive on. No pollutants can get into the ground water as is typically the case with regular "sewer" systems. No solids = No sludge = No disposal = No pollution = No Smell

COMMUNITY BENEFITS:

Completely Odorless
Keeps community ponds, wetlands, and vegetation vibrant without pollutant chemicals
Helps with mosquito abatement
No backups, no overflows, no septic tanks!

CAPACITY:

Sufficient to cover all the homesites within the subdivision

MAINTENANCE AND COSTS:

Licensed operators are responsible for operations and maintenance of the system. The projected maintenance costs, while minimal, are being accrued against a 10 year replacement cycle.
