

Frank S. Stanton – Secretary of Bulldogs Nation Foundation, Inc. (“BNFI”)

Frank S. Stanton joined BNFI because of his desire to be a part of something positive that will bring change to the community. Frank is also an alumni of Westinghouse and played football for the school during his high school years, and was a three time letterman. For years, Frank has been excited about the possibility to reach out to make a difference with the senior graduates of his alma mater.

Volunteering as a youth football coach for 10 years, Frank knows the importance of instilling great team values amongst our youths. Yes, it’s fun for Frank to tell the players that he made eight trips to the city final championship games, winning six of them, but it’s even more fun to emphasize that while they practice for these championship games, they had a requirement to maintain a certain GPA in class in order to be on the team.

For over 39 years, Frank has been employed at Carnegie-Mellon University as the campus gardener, and makes sure that he shares the importance of further education with his own family. He and his wife Theresa have three children (Tamara, Frank, Jr. and Terrence) and three grandchildren.
