PARENTAL CONSENT FORM FOR STUDENTS NOT MAKING ADEQUATE PROGRESS WHILE ON INNOVATIVE LEARNING

On November 30, 2020, Commissioner of Education Richard Corcoran issued DOE order No. 2020-EO-07 acknowledging that there are disproportionate numbers of students who are already educationally disadvantaged and learning off-campus or not attending school at all, and certain achievement gaps are widening, such that additional supports and interventions are needed to reach children who are not enrolled in school and to help students who are enrolled but experiencing academic losses during the pandemic.

During the First Semester of 2020-2021 school year, your child was receiving instruction through innovative learning.

You child has not been making adequate academic progress while on innovative learning and the strongest recommendation has been made to have your child return to traditional in class instruction the Second Semester. The failure of your child to return to a traditional facility for instruction can create further detriment to the education of your child. This will have a direct impact on the education of your child and deprive your child of additional academic interventions and support.

Despite such recommendation to return your child to a traditional brick and mortar school, it has and remains your intent as a parent and legal guardian of your child to have your child remain in the innovative learning modality.

It is expressly understood that your child will remain in the innovative learning modality, and that further innovative learning modality options will be presented that will best serve your child to make adequate academic progress and learning gains.

Respectfully,

Sincerely,

Valerie Bourbour
