The Best Christmas light show on the Southern Oregon coast happens in Brookings, Oregon

For over 20 years, locals and visitors alike have shared in the wonder and beauty of Nature's Coastal Holiday Festival of Lights in picturesque Azalea Park. The annual event began with a mere 22,000 lights in 1997 and it has grown to over 500,000 dazzling lights. In 2016, over 19,000 people enjoyed the holiday enchantment of the various displays compared to 7,120 people in 1997. Over the years, visitors have come from dozens of states and more than 8 foreign countries making this nightly show a truly international event.

The brain child of past volunteers, Olivia Abbott and Keith Pepper, the 21 year old Festival of Lights is a completely volunteer coordinated and staffed event. In the early years, there were only a few dozen people to help string the lights in the park. A few more individuals baked cookies and the local schools helped by designing and distributing posters. That same spirit of volunteering is still at the core of the event. A small group of individuals plan and organize the event each year, but the Brookings-Harbor community is the main component when it comes to stringing lights and hosting the month long event.

During the month of November, weekends find volunteers in the park decorating the trees, shrubs and walkways. There are over 20- 3D light sculptures erected. In the Undersea Garden, there's a 7 foot tall sea horse, a 9 foot tall mermaid, and a giant octopus that takes 8 hours just to place the lights on one of its eight arms. Volunteers place dozens of 2D sculptures, both traditional and nature themed, throughout the park. In addition, the 55 foot Avenue of the Arches runs a 15 minute looping programmed light show. Most of the sculptures have been hand made by various high school students, public works employees and local individuals and feature brilliant LED lighting. Over 90 local businesses and individuals help offset general costs by sponsoring their signs, allowing for just a $2.00 donation for adults with children under 12 admitted free. Showcased during the Festival of Lights is various holiday entertainment and music including visits from Santa on select dates. Volunteers provide hot cocoa, hot apple cider and cookies. Donations are always welcome in return for a sweet treat and a warm drink.

The Festival of Lights isn't only in the park. Over the last few years, volunteers have refurbished the old 9 feet tall lighted bells that hung on the light poles in the downtown district decades ago. They again adorn the downtown area at street level to bring back the tradition that is so important to the Brookings-Harbor area. Visible at street level, are two giant refurbished 4x42 foot "Happy Holiday" signs that used to decorate the street at the north and south entrances of Brookings. There are even 4 of the original whales gracing the marquee of the Redwood theatre in the downtown center of Brookings.

It would be hard to find another month long community sponsored event which has become such a popular experience. The Brookings-Harbor community comes alive with the spirit of giving as its citizens string each light. Each child's face stares in amazement during their visit to the Festival of Lights thus making Brookings an excellent family get-a-way during December. Due to frequent requests and for the first time ever... the Festival of Lights will be open for a few days after Christmas!
