Yarmouth, ME - Veriswap, the leading sports card and TCG trading site in the world, proudly announces its partnership with 7-year-old Carter Torina aka CarterCollectsCards to become the official partner of CarterCollectsCards Trade Events.

CarterCollectsCards hosts one of the hobby's premier free and family-friendly events, exclusively dedicated to the trading of sports and Pokémon cards. Carter is the youngest hobby influencer in the industry with this level of partnership; CarterCollectsCards is the first traveling live event trade-only brand on the Veriswap platform.

"We are thrilled to partner with Carter and support CarterCollectsCards Trade Events," said Raymond Li, Veriswap CEO. "Carter's passion for trading and history of hosting successful Trade Nights makes him an ideal collaborator for our company and vision."

This strategic partnership with Veriswap further enhances the experience for CarterCollectsCards trade event attendees, providing them with an opportunity to also trade with Carter online, securely and efficiently.

"I'm excited to partner with Veriswap. It's my favorite site in the world for trading cards," said Carter. He added, "Raymond and his team are awesome and I'm so proud to be working with them."

Carter's dad, Chris Torina added, "Carter has been one of the youngest and most prolific users on the Veriswap platform, having achieved Veteran status rather quickly. We are appreciative that Raymond and his team recognize the potential strategic growth of this partnership and we look forward to enhancing the Veriswap experience."

This is the second such partnership for Carter in the last six months, having already entered into a strategic partnership with Mascot Technologies (@WithMascot). For more information please click here.

Why Trade Events Matter To Kids

Many kids prefer to go to trade events as a way to avoid the pressure and in some cases, the intimidation of card shows. Parents often tell us that they appreciate the low pressure atmosphere where kids can have fun swapping cards rather than having to worry about money changing hands. CarterCollectsCards Trade Events are centered around community driven initiatives and are a great, fun way to introduce kids, families and young adults to the hobby.
