

Mid-Atlantic Disaster Recovery Association (MADRA)

For over 25 years, MADRA has provided a forum for education and networking among Disaster Recovery, Business Continuity, Continuity of Operations (COOP) and Risk Management Professionals throughout Washington D.C., Maryland, Northern Virginia, Delaware and southern Pennsylvania.

Our meetings provide focused, current and relevant interactive presentations in areas ranging from traditional Recovery Planning, Cyber Threats and Breaches, Terrorism to Supply Chain Risk Management and other emerging areas. MADRA selects as its speakers and panel members, Subject Matter Experts (SMEs) from consulting firms, recovery service providers, academia and emergency response organizations to ensure that you have the latest information in interactive forums.

Our MADRA Executive Board members are industry veterans who are dedicated to providing five (5) meetings, per year free of charge, at diverse regional locations which include networking opportunities, topical presentations and lunch.

MADRA is a 501(c)3 organization so there are no membership commitments. All that we ask is a tax-deductible annual donation of only $50 in order to maintain our high level of quality speaker and presentation programming.

MADRA's Executive Board appreciates your interest and we look forward to you joining our group as we seek to further enhance our deliverables to our membership. We strive to continually make a meaningful contribution to enrich your professional experience, our communities, our businesses and our families.

To join MADRA:

Please visit: www.MADRA.org - or - Email us at info@madra.org or

For more info: Bob Cohen, MADRA President, (703) 623 - 8447