RED OAK, MAPLE, WORMY MAPLE, HICKORY, RUSTIC HICKORY, QUARTER SAWN WHITE OAK, CHERRY OF RUSTIC CHERRY.

First decide which hardwood you are most interested in. Each has its own distinctive characteristics. Each piece gets built with many individual boards and you may notice some natural variation in color. Lighter boards come from closer to the bark of the tree and vice versa for darker ones. This is a hallmark of genuine hardwood furniture and a stamp of authenticity! No two boards are alike and every piece we build is a unique work of Nature.

( » RH: RUSTIC HICKORY

All the strength and durability you would expect from grade Hickory but with the added beauty of knots and pits. Large knots and pits get filled with black epoxy while smaller ones are left open to farther accent the true character of this arresting hardwood. Tell a story — make a statement. Revel in natures handiwork.

If you are looking for strength, hardness, and durability; Hickory is the most viable wood in North America. The grain is normally straight, but can sometimes be irregular or wavy. Hickory has a coarse texture, with a great deal of color variation between reddish brown, lighter brown, and white. Color variation may have a striped appearance. If your design tastes are for natural wood tones this is one that makes quite an impression.

» O: RED OAK

A beautiful hardwood chosen 50% of the time by Americans for their home furnishings. With three dimensional warmth, relatively uniform color and great durability this species is a popular choice for a reason. It has long been an American staple being the most widely used and purposeful wood even back in the colonial days.

( » ) QS: QUARTER SAWN WHITE OAK

This wonderful wood has characteristics very similar to Red Oak, though rarer. When ¼ sawn it provides "ray flake". Ray flake is the distinctive striping which comes from cutting the log cross grain. Commonly referred to as Tiger striping. This method and look is prevalent on many antique furniture pieces. Gustave Stickley and the Shakers popularized this high end look with their signature styles which is why Mission and Shaker style pieces are still often displayed in this premium wood.

») C: CHERRY

Found all across the Northeastern shore especially in the Appalachian areas. The finest growth occurs right here in our home state of PA and in West Virginia. The lighter reddish-brown tones create a warm, luxurious look that has made it a favorite for state rooms and mansions which is why this species has become synonymous with wealth and quality. It includes small pitch pockets of mineral and is susceptible to UV and will always darken with exposure to light.

» RC: RUSTIC CHERRY

The same wood as Cherry but with the natural beauty of the "heart wood" (from the center of the tree). This arresting choice contains more of the "sap wood" and "pitting" than standard cherry as well as knots and natural cracks and splits. The character forms a unique and rustic appearance with and unexpected flare that makes a striking statement.

M: MAPLE (UNSELECTED)

Grown and sustainably harvested from the Great Lakes to the Appalachian mountains. Maple has a durable, tight grain structure. Its tones are more yellow and creamy than cherry. However, it is growing in popularity and has surpassed cherry in preference and is more affordably priced. The luster and changing beauty it creates as light infuses it from different angles plus the natural coloration makes Maple one of the most attractive American hardwood choices available. We use mostly "heart wood" thus the color tones vary from light to beige to dark brown.

» WRM: WORMY MAPLE

Wormy Maple is regular Maple's assertive sibling. It is graded from standard Maple because of the "sap streaks" that naturally occur in this species. It is also separated because of it's "worm holes". Even though it is called wormy the darker streaks are not caused by a worm. They are actually caused by the ambrosia beetle. They leave larvae behind which bore a shallow channel and deposit a fungus that causes the discoloration. These areas are structurally sound. The dark streaks combined with the "worm holes" give it a charming and naturally rustic appeal. Especially when finished in Natural or lighter finishes.
