What is Nitro?

Nitro refers to the type of gas used in the carbonation process. Instead of the normal carbon dioxide (CO₂), nitro beers use nitrogen. Nitrogen is largely insoluble in liquid, which gives the beer a smooth and creamy mouthfeel.

*What is a Gose?

A gose is a warm fermented beer that originated in Germany. It is usually brewed with at least 50% of the grain being malted wheat. Dominant flavors include a lemon sourness, an herbal characteristic, and a strong saltiness.
