MPH Brewing to Serve Left Hand Brewing Company Beers

MONTGOMERY, Ohio, June 8th, 2020 – MPH Brewing, the newly opened brewery in Montgomery, is excited to announce a long-planned partnership with Left Hand Brewing Company, headquartered in Longmont, Colorado. Beginning June 12, MPH Brewing will feature several taps of Left Hand's award-winning beers alongside more than a dozen of its own beers.

Said MPH's General Manager Jim Christmann, "Left Hand's Co-Founder and President Eric Wallace and I are cousins and Cincinnati natives. We think this partnership is a great opportunity to showcase Left Hand's beers here in Cincinnati, some of which previously could only be found in their Colorado taproom, and bring together offerings from two independent craft breweries under one roof."

MPH Brewing celebrated its grand opening on May 21 with unique craft beer, select wines and a popular food menu. Head Chef Mark Mayhall is busy with recipe development in order to expand the menu over the next several weeks.

"We're excited for the opportunity to introduce Left Hand to the community through our partnership with MPH Brewing. Our offerings will complement MPH's ever-expanding beer menu from Co-Founder Bill Bolger and Brewmaster J.C. Jordan and provide craft beer lovers with a wide selection of great brews," said Wallace.

MPH Brewing is located at 7880 Remington Road, 45242 in Montgomery and includes ample indoor space, patio seating and an outdoor beer tent. Carry-out service for growlers and food is also available. For more information please visit, mphbrew.com.

Christmann added, "Come visit us soon and experience MPH Brewing and now Left Hand too! We have the space for you to enjoy unique beverages complemented by our great food at appropriate social distance."
