Anchor Telcom
Daniel Gagnon

When our organization experienced a rapid expansion, it became necessary to switch to a new phone system. Anchor Telcom helped us figure out the best system that would work best for us. The selection was a VoIP hosted telephone system, it was a very smart decision, this systems allows us to print call records, check voicemails by email, forward and pre-press messages to diferent staff members. These are only some of the features offered by the system, there are too many to list.

We were pleased with their work, from installing the new system in our new facility to training staff on the use of the system. We have been very pleased with how professional and fast our questions about the phone system have been handled. The new phone system is just what we needed and it's making things run more smoothly in our new office.

Thank you Dan!
