John Tzimorangas Update

John highlighted the similarities between ENE's beginning and GML's current status. He is encouraged to see the growth we are experiencing in such a short period of time. GML's service model is harmonious with Public Power's ethos of helping each other out. New General Managers have varied degrees of experience and a wide range of backgrounds. Growth can happen through purchasing other businesses, like GML did with their line trimming division. ENE experienced similar growth from their purchase of Utility Services of Vermont. Their customer base was nationwide. ENE and GML have complimentary business models, and John is looking forward to a lengthy and harmonious relationship between the two entities. He was grateful for the opportunity to meet with the GML Board.

Michael Cloutier, Secretary
