High School

June Class 1955

Foreword

In this thirty-second edition of Rhodes Yearbook, the aim has been to reflect every phase of our high school life. There are pictures, grave and gay; pictures that will remind us, through the years to come, of the good friends we have had, the good times we have known, and the rooms and corridors that have echoed to our foot-steps. Many pictures will bring smiles; some, perhaps, will bring a tear. The thought has ever been uppermost, in compiling this book, that a yearbook is not just for today and tomorrow, but something that should grow more interesting and dear to us all through the passing years.

When some members of this class shall have reached the heights that the records of their past achievements indicate they will attain, we shall want to look again at the jolly, informal shots that reflect these happy days of comradeship at Rhodes and say, with pride, "I knew him when——."

Deepest expressions of gratitude are due to the school administration and our class adviser, Mr. Tanko, for their unfailing assistance and wise counsel. Thanks also is due to the teaching staff whose members have been helpful, patient, and tolerant of the Yearbook Committee's struggles to compile the material that has gone into this yearbook. The entire class should appreciate the co-operation of the staff members who appear in the faculty photograph. No school record can be complete without that most important of all factors—the teaching staff! Students will remember these men and women with deep gratitude.

Members of the senior class and many under-class members have co-operated in supplying the hundreds of memory-jogging snapshots that appear in these pages.

No words can express the loyalty, hard work, and intelligent co-operation of the members of the Yearbook Committee. In addition to willingly assuming their share of grueling routine work, members of this committee have made special contributions. Marilyn Jahnke designed and executed the cover-linings. With Don MacFarlane, she also wrote the Class Prophecy. Rosemary Wanko and Grant Lawrence compiled the Class History. The Class Will is the work of Janeal Turnbull and Paul Rozilo. Dave Neldon served as yearbook committee photographer and Rose Ratka, committee typist.

And now, Classmates, this Yearbook is yours. We leave it to your mercies and we hope, to your enjoyment. If you feel it is YOUR Yearbook we have succeeded in our endeavors. It is for you to determine whether or not we have accomplished our purpose.

The Editor.

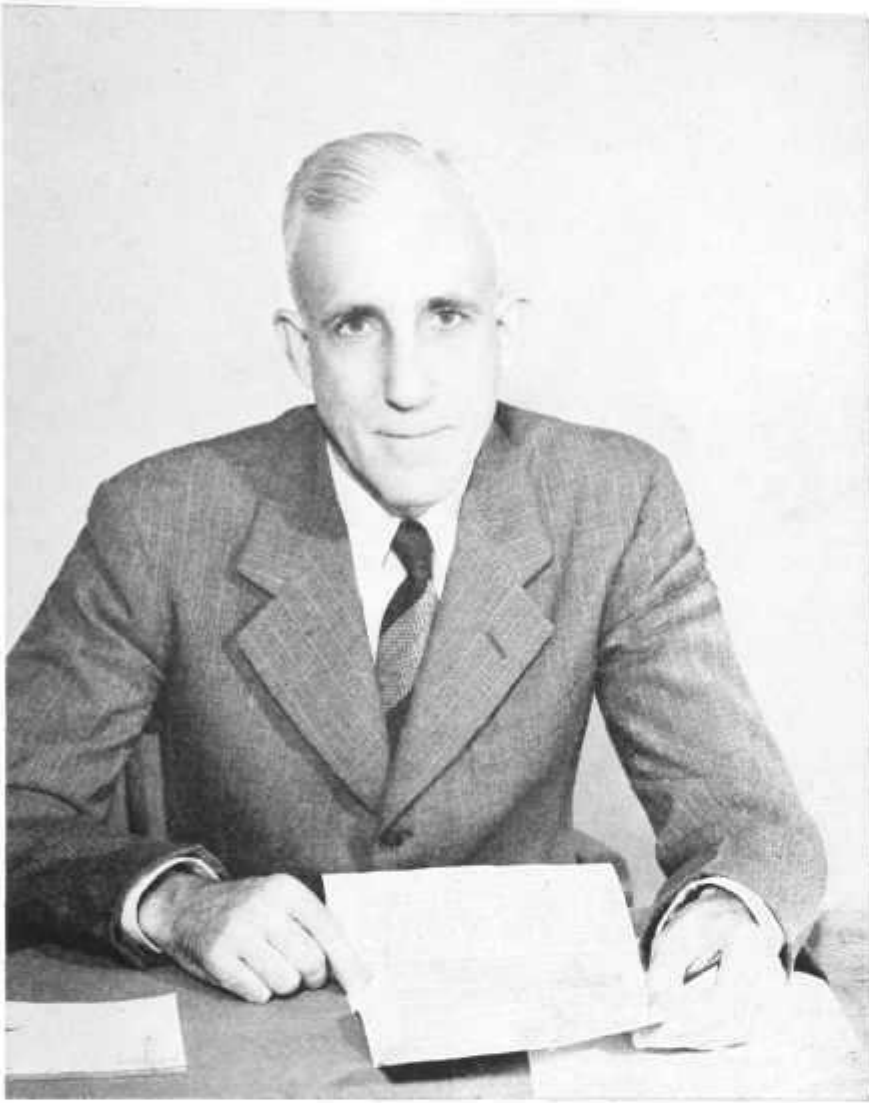

MISS BLANCHE JENNEY

DEDICATION

We dedicate our yearbook to you, Miss Jenney, with sincere respect and deep affection. This is our way of showing our appreciation to you for your guidance and help during our four years at Rhodes. We appreciate the patience and understanding with which you instilled in us the knowledge of the various phases of higher mathematics. We'll remember you as a teacher and friend who was always ready and willing to help us solve our problems. We hope that you will remember our class as one that always tried to live up to the principles of the school.

THE SENIOR CLASS

June, 1955

NEIL D. MATHEWS

To Members of the Class of June, 1955:

We hope that Rhodes High School has offered each of you opportunities through which to prepare for more effective citizenship and more successful living. However, your diploma is not a guarantee of life-long success. Achievement of success in the years ahead will depend largely upon the manner in which you take advantage of opportunities and build upon the foundation which we hope has been laid during the past four years. May each of you, in accepting the rights and privileges to which your diploma entitles you, accept in full the responsibilities and obligations which it places upon you. Best wishes.

Neil D. Mathews

We of this class have known you not only as a counsellor, Mr. Gaiser, but as a teacher and friend. In each capacity you have served us well. You have shown us the importance of truth and taught us to face things and make the best of circumstances. You have taught us that there is no cause for shame in being wrong, if we learn from our mistakes. Words cannot express our gratitude.

We of this graduating class may be a bit over-confident, Miss Hier. No doubt this is typical of youth. Perhaps it is unfortunate that this confidence is likely to fade with time. Few of us may ever know the taste of fame, but perhaps there may be one among us who has the qualities of leadership that the world needs. We believe that you have helped us to recognize, in ourselves and in our classmates, such potential leadership as we possess. You have kindled in every heart, where leadership dwells, a small flame that will grow with the years until it may eventually shine brightly enough for world recognition. We shall always be grateful to you.

Choosing a vocation or a college is something like travelling in the blackness of night. You, Mr. Ferguson, have served many of us much as a small candle serves a wanderer in the dark. You have shown us the way, and yet you let us make our own decisions. We shall always remember your guidance that may have kept some of us from stumbling. Thank you, for always being there when we needed you.

When through these portals wide
 We came to you,
 We brought our bright young dreams
 Hopes that were new.
 Rhodes' winding corridors
 Seemed pathways to the stars.
 Four years seemed endless hours
 To prove our powers.

Now at these portals wide
 We say adeau.
 Four years have proved, alas,
 Sadly too few.
 We leave our foolish dreams,
 Some are not dead;
 We'll keep our memories,
 You gave us instead.

Now take our love, Dear Rhodes,
 And homage due.
 May our lives ever be
 Tributes to you.

SANDS OF TIME

As we of the class turn our gaze back and look at our footprints in the sand we can trace our path to the days when Rhodes presented a new challenge in our lives. We have already lived that part of our lives, now it is our duty to take from the past something on which to base the future. Life itself is as inconsistent as the shifting sands of the Sahara. Problems which faced us during our brief stay at Rhodes are now a thing of the past. Just as the face of the desert is constantly changing, so do our lives.

We entered Rhodes apprehensive of what awaited us. It was truly a challenge to become a part of the school. But, let us look back and see exactly what we were doing during our first year at Rhodes.

We had our first taste of school spirit through attendance of football games. The season was climaxed with the winning of the Charity Game.

James Koshel, Bill Liatti, and Marcia McClung had their footlight debut in "For Old Times Sake."

One April afternoon the majority of us descended upon the boys' gym to see the faculty in action at a Student-Faculty Day gathering. The proceeds netted $425 for new band uniforms. (P.S. The faculty out-did the students.)

The first Awards Assembly which we attended was on June 3. Ken DeBow was recognized for his artistic talents while Jim Eterovich was honored for receiving a perfect score on a National Current Events Test.

The first year ended and we plodded on, we were just beginning to feel as if we belonged.

It was in the 10B that Marilyn Gallagher, Mary Ann Mack, Marguerite Rezabeck, and Lucille Shillat became members of Girl's Leaders.

During that same year many of us learned the art of artificial respiration first hand.

Charles Craig and Al Kehoe became water boys and aided the football team through victories and defeats.

It was also while we were in the tenth grade that ID tags were introduced. Also the Honors Reading idea was put into effect.

Just as some things began others came to an end. Mr. Vannorsdall retired from the position of basketball coach that year.

Zorian Horodysky, a newcomer from Czechoslovakia, made all of us feel a bit stupid when we learned of his knowledge of five different languages.

Barbara Mate, and Rita Pauloski were in a modern dance program at Central High. Also represented among the energetic of our class were Paul Karas and Chester Zeman, Decathlon stars; Ron Katt, Bob Koeblitz, Don MacFarlane, Allan Roesch, Alfred Schilling, Frank Valchar, and Ed Wald tried their hand at bowling. Katherine Korylak showed herself to be an expert at badminton and Toni Uhlik received the highest score in the girls' bowling tournament.

After two years things began to get a bit routine. However, we saw in the not too distant horizon hopes of becoming seniors.

At the beginning of the 11B semester we found that Margaret Frueh was the editor of the Rhodes Review, the first junior ever to receive this post.

Linda Tichy and Beverly Wehr became members of the Triple Trio and Lawrence Berg, Martin Fesing, and Clayton McElwaine received positions with the Boys' Octet.

At Hallowe'en the store windows of Brooklyn took on an artistic look. We found that Rosemary Broderick, Rhonda Gasior, Bill Polk, and Eileen Thomas, were partly responsible for they had entered the Hallowe'en painting contest.

In November we again went to the stadium to cheer our football team on to a second Charity Game victory. This time Benedictine fell before our powerful Rams to the score of 40 to 14.

Dr. Albert Schweitzer was the subject of a radio program (in Deutsche) presented over WBOE by Al Bachman, Richard Crocco, Leatrice Eiben, and Paul Rozilo.

The business men of our class were Ken Frank and Dave Gasior who were active members of Junior Achievement.

Instead of being followers Arline Andrykovich, Judith Coll, and Alice Revilock became Leaders.

"Objection your honor," was one of many of Jim Smith's lines as he took the part of the prosecutor in the dramatic courtroom production "Night of Jan. 16." Also in the limelight were Shirley Criswell, Bob Dash, Lynn Hnat, Carl Keske, Carol Kovach, George Kraus, and Marcia McClung.

Bill Barth, Paul Karas, Phil Senich, and Alfred

Schilling demonstrated their squashbuckling techniques by taking part in the intramural wrestling program.

Girls' soccer games were in full swing that fall with Mary Dzurinin and Mary Gigante as team managers.

Representing Rhodes in a tennis tournament at Flora Stone Mather was Mary Ann Mack.

Armed with their instruments Louis Dixon, Mary Kubala, Grant Lawrence, and Bill Super took posts with the newly formed All-City Orchestra. Lawrence Berg, Leatrice Eiben, Marilyn Gallagher, Barbara Mate, Clayton McElwaine, and Beverly Wehr found a new challenge in All-City Chorus.

Rhodes became the possessor of a new dance band, members from our class were Al Bachman, Larry Coyne, Lawrence Fodor, and Bill Super.

Keeping on their toes was all in a day's work for Mary Dzurinin, Carol Holda, Mary Ann Mack, Rita McAuley, Rita Pauloski, Alice Revilock, Lucille Shillat, Nancy Sledz, Toni Uhlik, Rosemary Wanko, and Joan Yanchak who danced in a modern dance program.

A course in culinary arts for the male species became a reality during this semester under the title Boys' Chef. Bob Dash, Ken Fenner, Bob Koebnitz, Joe Mirka, Dave Neldon, Ken Pollock, and Yarid Sahley have since become charter members of the burnt biscuit brigade. However, they always have competition from such people as Rosalie Conte, Mary Loudon, Marcia McClung, Carol Schnaterbeck, Virginia Seda, and Sandra White, members of the Home Economics Club.

Flappers, dusters, and the charleston came to Rhodes in the form of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." Found taking parts in this play were Carl Keske, Carol Kovach, Marguerite Rezabeck, Yarid Sahley, and Lucille Shillat. Pat Johanni was in charge of the dances while Juliette Courey and Mary Loudon took charge of the wardrobing.

Showing their dandy form the Dan Dandies with Donna Dick, Rose Ratka, Rose Rocco, and Marilyn Schnell became the girls' basketball champs.

Student Council elections placed Richard Crocco and Al Bachman in the offices of president and vice president respectively. It was Eugene Basalla who managed their campaigns. Carolyn Noss became secretary and Toni Uhlik was in charge of the funds.

Our class officers were Joe Mirka, president;

Frank Valchar, vice president; Marilyn Gallagher, secretary; and Juliette Courey, treasurer. Marilyn Schnell and her social committee which consisted of Al Bachman, Richard Crocco, Ken Frank, Ruth Haak, Paul Karas, Carl Keske, George Kraus, Grant Lawrence, Monica Martz, Bill Meier, Rose Ratka, and Lucille Shillat were busy creating "Paradise Island" the theme of our first informal that was to take place in the Rhodes ballroom.

Mary Loudon was Rhodes' representative to Halle Brothers fashion board.

Francis Becker had brought in the greatest amount of tax stamps in the school.

Janeal Turnbull, who had submitted two essays, received a National Scholastic Writing Merit Award.

It was while in the eleventh grade that Laverne Gaydos was one of the typists who helped the Rhodes Review staff.

In the 11A Richard Crocco, Leatrice Eiben, Jim Eterovich, Margaret Frueh, Marilyn Gallagher, Carl Keske, Grant Lawrence, Rita Pauloski, Anthea Poly, and Lucille Shillat were inducted into National Honor Society.

At an Honor Awards Assembly that year Rhonda Gasior received an art certificate and Al Bachman, Eva Corn, Larry Coyne, Louis Dixon, Larry Fodor, Mary Kubala, and Bill Super were presented with music awards.

Seniors at last! To many of us it was not quite the thrill we had expected. However, it did mean that soon an old way of life would end and a new would begin.

Our officers in the 12B were Joe Mirka, president; Richard Crocco, vice president; Marilyn Gallagher, secretary; and Peggy Bannasch, treasurer. Marilyn Schnell, our social chairman, had the able assistance of Juliette Courey, Eugene Enderlein, Jim Eterovich, Ken Frank, Dave Gasior, Ruth Haak, Marilyn Jahnke, Grant Lawrence, Monica Martz, Carolyn Noss, Rose Ratka, Arlyne Robinson, Lucille Shillat, and Jim Smith, her committee members. They all helped to create the scenery that gave our second informal the atmosphere of a Chinese Garden.

During this semester Carol Graf, Marilyn Jahnke, Mary Kubala, Betty Laczko, Ronald Lipin, Don MacFarlane, Rosemary Wanko, and Martha Yonek were inducted into National Honor Society.

Through a Halloween art contest Norma Dorn started making the knowledge of art pay off by winning a $5.00 honorable mention.

Then came the 12A elections. Joe Mirka was again voted into the presidency; Jim Eterovich became vice president; Marilyn Gallagher continued as secretary; and Richard Crocco became treasurer. Lucille Shillat, social chairman, had a committee which consisted of Charles Craig, David Gasior, Rhonda Gasior, Carl Keske, Rita McAuley, Rita Pauloski, Marguerite Rezabeck, Allan Roesch, and Dick Wolcott. The yearbook committee, with chairman, Margaret Frueh, consisted of Marilyn Jahnke, Grant Lawrence, Don MacFarlane, Dave Neldon, Rose Ratka, Paul Rozilo, Rosemary Wanko, and Janeal Turnbull.

A number of our class helped the dream of a social room come closer to a realization by helping to paint the designated room. They were Al Bachman, Richard Crocco, Grant Lawrence, Ron Lipin, and Marilyn Schnell.

Scholarship played an important part in our class. Don MacFarlane and Paul Rozilo received honorable mention in a State General Scholarship Test. On the Ohio Psychological Test, Richard Crocco, Jim Eterovich, Peter Ferguson, Lawrence Fodor, Margaret Frueh, Rhonda Gasior, Marilyn Gallagher, Carol Graf, Marilyn Jahnke, Carl Keske, Grant Lawrence, Ronald Lipin, Don MacFarlane, Jim Ostas, Rita Pauloski, Ilsa Richter, Barbara Roth, Paul Rozilo, Jim Smith, Joan Spyak, Janeal Turnbull, Frank Valchar, and Paul Wiest received scores above 100.

The 12A found seven more inductees for National Honor Society from our class. They were Al Bachman, Peter Ferguson, Lawrence Fodor, Rhonda Gasior, Mary Jane Kozimor, Mary Loudon, and Clayton McElwaine.

In athletics we will always remember Joe Mirka, Ralph Molinari, Phil Senich, Dick Swasey, and Frank Valchar for their efforts in varsity football. In varsity basketball Ralph Molinari and Joe Sasarak will also be remembered. The members of the track team from our class were Paul Karas, Joe Mirka, Ralph Molinari, Yarid Sahley, Phil Senich, Frank Valchar, and Chester Zemany. Active in intramural sports were Ken DeBow, Ralph Dienes, Ken Fenner, Stanley Grudzien, James Jenkins, Bill Polk, Roger Powell, Al Schilling, Lynn Snyder, John Span, Gary Tildes, John VanDyke, Robert Yuzva, and Jerry Zarlenga.

It was also in the 12A that Sally Pinch won two places in the Scholastic Art Exhibition.

We had many girls who helped teachers by serving as secretaries. Lenore Henke, Mary Dzur-anin, and Verna Gaglione could often be seen sitting behind a typewriter.

During our stay at Rhodes it was not uncommon to see Janet Heideloff playing the cymbals in the orchestra. We also saw Suzanne Hawkins, among others of our musically minded class, march in the band.

As we look back we find that James Jenkins had come from Oklahoma, Louise Reant from California, and Marilyn Miller from Texas.

As we look back we can also see Juliette Cour-ey, Bob Dash, and Matthew Maniaci as they appeared in "Our Town," another dramatic presentation at Rhodes.

Perhaps in the future Pat Bolick and Mary Lezan will be nurses judging from their membership in F.N.A. and Shirley Zutz may be a teacher if her belonging to F.T.A. is any sign.

William Russ, Dale Wagner, and Richard Zechman, were only three of the many in our class who were members of the Forman's Club.

It was also during the twelfth grade that Lawrence Pamer displayed his ability in photography by submitting a picture to the Plain Dealer.

Last but not least we also remember the color guards at the football games. They were Eugene Enderlein, Jim Eterovich, Ken Fenner, Ken Frank, and David Gasior.

Now let us turn our gaze to the desert again. The wind is beginning to blow. We can hear it whistling and moaning as if it were warning us to take note of our past and learn. The dunes are slowly moving. We can not help comparing ourselves with those dunes. We too are changing, we are now going out into the world, we are as small and unimportant as one of those granulars of sand that compose a dune. However, we must go on just as the caravans that crossed the desert kept on. If we slip and fall in the sand we must get up and plod on. It has often been said that each man must play his part in life. But remember, the stage can be as broad as the mind of the man. We still have a great deal to learn and a long journey before us, but, if we remain open minded and learn from our mistakes we will all find our rewards in life; just as an oasis is the welcome reward to the weary wayfarer of the desert.

JUNE '55 PROPHECY

As we soar over the world in our little balloon, watching the sun rise in the east, memories of the past spring up before us. It is the year 1985—thirty years after that memorable date of June 14, 1955. What has happened to all our classmates from JFR since that time? Where have the paths of life led them? Will we ever know?

As we peer through our telescope toward Earth, we discover that we are drifting over the New York Harbor. Next to the Statue of Liberty, we see another statue—who could it be? Closer examination reveals that it is a statue of our old friend and senior class president, JOE MIRKA, the noted Marine hero, who, when his company ran out of powder, saved the day by throwing cannonballs at the enemy.

Nearby, in his ultra-modern office sits Chief Customs Inspector, LARRY FODOR, who has just begun dictating to his VERY private secretary, RHONDA GASIOR, who has recently distinguished herself in the field of shorthand. She won an award for writing 500 words a minute.

We find we are now drifting farther on, into the heart of New York. We pause for a moment above the WJFR-TV Building, where that famous program, "John's Other Wife's Husband's Girlfriend," written by DORIS BASTYN, is about to go on the air. Starring in this program is KEN FRANK as the hero. Co-starring are AL KEHOE, MAXINE DIENES, DAVE GASIOR, and PEGGY BANNASCH. And who is that stepping before the cameras? Why it's MARY GIGANTE, about to read the commercial for Lindner's Big Liver Pills, developed by AGNES LINDNER. Outside the studio is BILL POLK, manufacturer of You-Can-Be-As-Tall-As-She-Is Shoes.

We pass over the Starem Theater, owned and operated by ED STONEBROOK. Spike Jones is playing here at present, in the band of another friend of ours—LOUIS DIXON.

Farther down "the great white way" we discover PAT JOHANNI and KEN DeBOW, who are now dancing together with the Saddler Wells Ballet. PAUL ROZILO is not far behind; we find him with his little tin cup, collecting pennies for Radio Free Europe. He has just received a large donation from CHET ZEMANY, New York "Yankee" baseball player.

As we drift slowly out of New York, we glance back at the new UN building, designed by JIM ETEROVICH, without a room for Russia. The construction was in charge of woman engineer MARGARET FRUEH.

Clouds envelop the balloon and we see no more until we hover over Boston, where we see LARRY COYNE on his way to rehearsal with the Boston Philharmonic. At M.I.T. BARBARA DIVICOLI is teaching anatomy.

We stop for a moment to listen to KEN FENNER, who is making a speech on a street corner. He is trying to repeal the prohibition law passed by BILL MEIER. The wind is getting stronger, however, and we must be on our way again.

Before very long, we find ourselves in the vicinity of Cleveland, and dear old Rhodes. There is the Dan-Dee Company, where SNOOKY NOSS is busily putting salt on potato chips. Over to the left is the Pfeiffer Beer Company. We hear that MARY KUBALA is now playing the piccolo for their commercials.

Farther on, we are able to make out the sign of the Lipin Nipple Company, founded by RON LIPIN.

Well, look who's over there by the railroad tracks—that educated hobo, RICK CROCCO! (He's trying to get a freight train back to Harvard.)

We leave him to his searching, and continue to float over the city. We spot Radio Station WUGH, where disc-jockey ZORIAN HORODYSKY, is about to play that new hit song, "Eiben Workin' on the Railroad," written by LEATRICE EIBEN, and recorded by GEORGE "the Groaner" SHUBA.

We hear that Fred Waring has just left town—and we are quite disappointed, because we had hopes of seeing another old friend, BUDDY McELWAINE, who is singing tenor with his group.

As we drift out of the city, we also see that star half-back of the Cleveland Browns, JIM KOSHEL, tearing the tickets in half, and giving them "half back." But, we've lingered here long enough, and we must depart for parts unknown.

Our next stop is in Washington, D. C., where we see CAROL GRAF, the first woman president, presenting MATT MANIACI, mailman, a certificate for twenty-five years' service without stepping on a crack in the sidewalk. Here we also see LENORE IRONS, diplomat, who is ironing out difficulties between the U. S. and Russia. In Griffith Park LYNN HNAT is bat boy for the Washington Nats.

Farther south, we see MARILYNN MILLER sewing bars on the Confederate Flag. We learn that last week, MARY JANE KOZIMOR was caught posting bills saying, "Save your Confederate money—the South will rise again!" We don't have to worry though; she is being defended by that able woman lawyer SALLY PINCH.

We are unable to go much farther, however, because the wind has shifted and we are heading north again. We can't distinguish any landmarks until we reach Chicago, and the first person we see is ART GRUDZIEN. It looks like he is holding a gun to the back of RALPH DIENES. What could be going on? Oh—Ralph must have called him Stanley, and now he is going to pay for it!

Across the street are the headquarters for the Fast Driving Club for Men Fat and Fiftyish, and coming out of the front door are four of its most prominent members, PETE FERGUSON, MARTIN FESING, GEORGE LENHARD, and ED MURRAY. The originator of this club was RICHARD ZECHMAN, who gives the tests for drivers' licenses in Chicago.

In town is that famous editor of "True Confessions," AL BACHMAN, whom we missed seeing when we were in New York. On his staff is DAVE NELDON, modern photographer. He is talking to LYNN SNYDER, newspaper critic, about some "snide" remarks he has made in his column. Also working for that same paper is BOB DASH, writing obituaries. One of the most read articles is MARGUERITE REZABECK'S etireugram puzzles. (Etireugram spelled backwards is Marguerite.)

We pass one of the Valchar, Valchar, & Frank Parking Lots, owned by FRANK VALCHAR, who has a huge chain all over the country. Parked in the lot we see the Cadillac of MARY LOUDON, manufacturer of Loud 'n Clear Hearing Aids.

We hate to leave, but the wind carries us to Milwaukee, where we find EUGENE BASALLA, designing pianos after a certain swimming pool. We also see JANET HEIDELOFF, a distributor of Hudapole Beer, bottled by FRANCIS BECKER. And down a little side street, we pass RUTH HAAK's pawn shop. Their slogan is "We'll buy it hock, stock, and barrel."

Just outside of town, we meet GRANT LAWRENCE, manufacturer of Cookie's Zweiback, who has just made his second million.

Drifting still westward, we pass BOB KOEBLITZ's studio, where he is hard at work painting a new whistle in "Whistler's Mother." Posing with the whistle is Laverne Gaydos.

In the wide open spaces of South Dakota, we find AL ROESCH taking fielding lessons from that old, retired ball player, Ken Keltner. Farther to the west, we see the three resort tycoons, FRANK ERLINMEYER, BILL RUSS, and CHARLES CRAIG opening their latest resort in the Black Hills.

Drifting southwest, we see RITA PAULOSKI, newly elected sheriff of Laramie, Wyoming. She has just rounded up PAT BOLICK, who was trying to help GARY TILDES escape from the local hoosegow.

After a lull in the wind, we finally manage to drift over Colorado. Through our trusty telescope we see DANNY CLARK, who is running for state senator, arguing with his campaign manager, DONNA DICK. It seems that Danny wants to kiss young mothers instead of babies, and Donna doesn't agree.

The wind is starting to kick up from the northeast, and before very long, we find ourselves over Hoover Dam, where we see DALE WAGNER, who has a very good job plugging up holes in the dam. (Ooooh, what we said!)

From our position over Hoover Dam, we see the neon sign advertising GENE KULIK's gambling casino, Heads I Win; Tails You Lose. Running his roulette wheel we see IRENE YANKURA.

Now over Reno, we find VERNA GAGLIONE, wealthy socialite, who has just returned for her fourth RENO-vation. Just across the street from the courthouse, we see a very pretty building which houses the We'll-Find-You-Another-One Lonely Hearts Club, owned and operated by JOHN LESKO and JIM OSTAS. Two of its latest customers have been PAT CHAMPLE and MARY ANN MACK.

What's this we see in Carson City? We see KEN POLLOCK who is playing first fiddle in NANCY SMITH's square dance combo.

Here we go drifting north again. We slow up over Eureka, California, where we see city councilman, CARL ENGELHART working for lower speed limits.

Drifting south to Sacramento, we find NORMA DORN, writer of a new American Slang Dictionary talking to RON KATT. It seems he wants Norma to change that frequently used slang saying, "All you cool cats" to "All you cool dogs."

The wind has caught up with us again, and we are going farther south to Hollywood. Here we see a great many of our old friends. LUCILLE SHILLAT is now producing "Dragnet." In one of the meeting halls we find LYNN GALLAGHER, giving a lecture on her recent book, "You Too Can Support Your Husband Through Pre-med." The first copy was bought by EILEEN THOMAS. In her audience, we see LOUISE REANT and GEORGIANNA RIHA, who are starting in that recent smash picture "The Long and the Short of It." This was written by JUDY COLL, and directed by BOBBI MATE of Miracle Pictures—if it's good, it's a miracle!

Representing another phase of entertainment, we find RUSSELL SPRIGGS, who has just taken over for Don Wilson on the Jack Benny Show.

And now westward over thousands and thousands of miles of placid blue water until we finally sight some land below. Down there in Hawaii, we see BOOTS RAND, diving for pearls, seeing what she can garner.

As we continue drifting over the Pacific, we look back, and see BILL SUPER on Cloud 7, teaching Gabriel how to blow his horn.

Below us is Formosa, where BEVERLY SEDLACEK is running a sampan between Formosa and China. On the mainland, we see the Chinese using a jet rickshaw designed by JOHN VANDYKE. Over to the right, we see ROBERT YUZVA rebuilding the brick wall of China. In the same area, we also see many Chinese enjoying the new fad of pogo sticks, introduced by SUE HAWKINS.

As we soar higher, in order to clear the Himalayas, we spot LENORE HENKE and RUTH HINZ about to become the first women to climb Mt. Everest.

As we pass over India, we see a side show with CHRIS TALARICO as a snake charmer, and MARTHA YONEK as a rope climber.

Continuing on our way, we enter Iran, and see JERRY ZARLENGA hunting for oil to be processed and refined by that renowned chemist, BEVERLY WEHR.

Drifting over Arabia, we observe that romantic playboy JIM JENKINS with his harem. Nearby is JULIETTE COUREY, his Arab camel driver.

We drift across the Red Sea to Africa, where we find PHIL SENICH, noted archaeologist, also trying to see what he can garner. Playing on the Cairo stage, we see JOAN GOLAN, starring as the last of the red-hot mummies.

In southern Africa, we find GENE ENDERLEIN teaching the Mau-Maus how to play cricket. Farther on, is NANCY STANGER teaching the Zulus to mambo to the accompaniment of BUDDY SAHLEY's bongo drums.

Whirling across the stormy Atlantic, we finally reach Rio de Janeiro, where BILL BARTH has his reducing salon. Next door is GEORGE KRAUS's gym, where BILL LIATTI is training for the world heavy weight championship.

In Argentina, JOAN SPYAK had taken the place of Eva Peron. We also see MONICA MARTZ working as a roper on an Argentine dude ranch.

Drifting over to Santiago, Chile, we discover BETTY LACZKO, bug collector. She preserves them in Melda-Hide, developed by JANICE MELDA.

Winding our way northward, we come across the Aztec Indians whose revolt has recently been put down by JANEAL "Davey Crockett" TURNBULL. And in Venezuela, we find MARILYN SCHNELL growing her shnellless peanuts.

Blowing along in the Gulf Stream, we pause for a while over Bermuda, where ROSE MARIE RATKA is typing the 172nd copy of the June, 1955 yearbook. (After seeing the prophecy, no one would print it.) She is staying at Rest-In-Peace, NANCY TOMSIK's home for retired career girls.

We sail our little balloon to the Canary Islands where we discover JOAN YANCHAK raising parakeets.

Because of strong winds, we continue right on to Madrid, where we find SANDRA WHITE dancing the fandango. And we also see LINDA TICHY at the Madrid Arena, where she is in charge of the bull.

Now over Paris, we see CAROL SCHNATERBECK selling a home permanent developed by

GERALDINE DERNAY. This permanent is styled after the hair-do of NANCY SLEDZ, world famous model of the Y-look, designed by BARBARA ROTH. This hair product has been denounced by hair stylist PAUL KARAS as being unpractical. In Paris we see the business establishment of NANCY KNEREM world wide seller of cosmetics.

In Switzerland, we find SHIRLEY ZUTZ putting holes in Swiss Cheese. Not so far from here MEL TAGER is on vacation, but he is hard at work right now, perfecting his yodeling technique for the "Grand Ole Opery."

We zip over the English Channel, and say "Top o' the mornin'" to all our old friends. We come across TONI UHLIK, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and arguing with her is FRED SCHILLING, who wants her to raise the value of the shilling.

Along the London "Broadway," we find CARL KESKE making his professional debut as Prince Charming in "Cinderella," and ARLYNE ROBINSON in "Arsenic and Old Lace."

At Oxford University we see PAUL WIEST writing an essay on sonnets for his English professor JOHN SPAN. ROSALIE CONTE is here too, teaching the English how to make tea. We also see tailor PAT PATCHEN, who is repairing a uniform of champion tiddley wink player, KATHERINE KORYLAK.

And, as we drift on to Scotland, we see the store of ARLINE ANDRYKOVICH, the Scotch Candy Maker.

Moving on to Norway, we find PAT RICE teaching the Norwegians how to jitterbug. In one of the little fjords, we see a fishing boat owned by ROSEMARY BRODERICK.

Through the frigid air we travel north, and see VIRGINIA SEDA, woman barber, making use of the North Pole. And there, stranded on an ice cube is LARRY BERG. He was sent there by ROSE ROCCO for giving her the cold shoulder.

Down below in Alaska, we spy that eminent hunter of walrus, JIM SMITH. ROSEMARY WANKO uses the skins to design clothes for the Eskimos. These clothes are then sold by that famous igloo-to-igloo salesman, LARRY PAMER. Driving his huskies is that woman of the cold, cold north, CAROL HOLDA.

Running the old trading post is MARJORIE ESTERL, but she is losing money because she was recently skinned by that old fur trader CAROL KOVACH. Entertaining our forces at Thule, Greenland, we come upon the new girls quartet, "The Poodle Cuts," consisting of MARY LEZAN, ALICE REVILOCK, JOANN RIEDEL, and ILSA RICHTER. They were flown there free by Popovich Airlines, owned and operated by HELEN POPOVICH.

We find ourselves drifting southward now, and into Canada. There, in the heart of the Yukon is MARY DZURANIN. After several years of high school homemaking, she is now contracting the construction of that new housing development, Floodgate.

Going farther south again, we hover over Ottawa, where many of our old friends are located. We spot the world-famous Rhodes All-Stars, JOE SASARAK, DICK SWASEY, DICK WOLCOTT, WES KOCH, and water boy RALPH MOLINARI, getting ready for a basketball game with the Canada All-Stars.

Strolling down the street is none other than ED WALD, who made a mint with his new game of nine-pins. (He never could get that last one down!)

As the breeze dies down, we pull in above Montreal. Who is that in the middle of the square? It is EVA CORN, noted for her discovery of a medicine for keeping both arms the same length for use by trombone players.

Passing higher over the city, we see RITA McAULEY still trying to sell her book, "Why You Shouldn't Go Steady," but she is not having much success.

Drifting by the 25th floor of an office building, we see two familiar faces—one is SHIRLEY CRISWELL, consulting the advice of that noted marriage counselor, MARCIA McCLUNG, another classmate.

The wind is taking us out of Canada now, but as we leave, we catch a glimpse of NORMA KICIELINSKI, teaching English to little French boys and girls at P.S. 55.

We find ourselves running out of hot air now, and as we descend out of the dirty, foggy, muggy Cleveland atmosphere we, MARILYN JAHNKE and DON MacFARLANE wave a fond farewell to all our old friends whom we've visited, and wish them all the luck in the world!
