years ago when I was a freshman.
We all had a passion for music.
And as that grew so did the relationships between us.
I end my senior year with saying goodbye not to my fellow band members, but to my second family that I spent all my summers, and hours after school practicing with. And a teacher who was more than a teacher, she was a mother to us. And that's what makes our music, because of that we don't need to be noticed.

"Teamwork can go a long way when you put time and effort into it. This has been a great start to my freshman year. Even though people think we are nerds, were not. We're just dedicated more than others and we enjoy it"
