

“ONE CONVERSATION” EVENT

10.11.18 at 4:00pm in Atlanta, Georgia

Immunity – Does the general public have questions pertaining to Public Health and Immunity or are people universally settled with the message, “ALL VACCINES ARE SAFE, EFFECTIVE AND NECESSARY”? The One Conversation event strives to respectfully clear the confusion on a controversial, emotionally-charged topic with a panel filled with a spectrum of MDs, PhDs and a Medical Journalist; addressing questions people express the most with science and cites resources.

As Americans gear up for another fall season filled with football, changing leaves and pumpkin spice everything, the public also buckles down and readies themselves to fight every germ, virus and bacteria eagerly hovering over every man, woman and child. Flu Season. Infectious Diseases. Snotty noses, swollen eyes, fevers, raspy voices and above all else... fear. Fear of missing work or school. Fear of not getting to the doctor fast enough. Fear a little sniffle takes a terrible turn for the worse. How does the public protect themselves? What about lifetime protection? What are the recommendations to ensure optimal health for everyone as the seasons progress into colder months? Vaccines. Flu Shots. Pneumonia Shots. Shingles Vaccines. Childhood Immunizations. Adult Immunizations. Boosters. Repeat. Have questions? “Talk to your doctor”. Is the doctor slammed with an over-filled waiting room, reduced to spend a minimal amount of time with each patient in order to meet his or her “bazillion” patient quota in order to make ends meet? Where does the public turn? The internet and social media. Information and misinformation is the name of the game and more people are more confused than ever before when it comes to personal and public health. Immunity. Let’s talk.

One Conversation is an epic event, which is taking place in Atlanta, Georgia on October 11th, 2018 at 4:00pm EST until 8:15pm EST. The Hill Auditorium at the Woodruff Arts Center will house a spectacularly diverse panel comprised of a spectrum of esteemed, decorated professionals which boast various backgrounds and expertise across a myriad of focuses and perspectives. Such experts include descriptions such as the following:

- Infectious Disease Specialist MD
- OBGYN Oncologist with a focus on HPV
- Former Director of a Pediatric Emergency Room MD with a current focus on Preventive Health and Nutrition
- PhD Retired Program Director for the NCI/NIH (National Institute of Health) with a focus on Cancer and Immunity
- PhD Neuroscientist with a focus on Aluminum Toxicity and Lou Gehrig’s Disease
- Former Director of an Emergency Department and current Founder of an Integrative Medical Center
- Medical Journalist

The goal for One Conversation is to engage experts, who possess various perspectives, in a dynamic, respectful conversation; exchanging scientific information and visual aids supported by cited resources and references. A prominent FM Radio Talk Show Host, Shelley Wynter, will moderate the event to maintain the desired respectful and classy atmosphere as well as guide questions directed towards specific panelists. The format for the event is broken up into four blocks, which are detailed as the following:

- Block One: Panelist Introductions
- Block Two: Questions to Panelists (each question offered to two panelists who have adequately prepared accordingly)
- Brief Intermission
- Block Three: The Conversation Panelists will respectfully engage one another with questions and clarifications to clear up confusing talking points, conflicting statistics and misinformed rhetoric.
- Block Four: Pre-submitted Audience Questions offered by Mr. Wynter to various panelists
- Wrap UP and Closing Remarks

Immediately following the One Conversation event at 8:30pm, panelists, organizers and the moderator will join each other for an upscale dinner at the Twelve Eighty Restaurant. Guests with purchased dinner tickets will also join the esteemed group to engage in one-on-one continued conversation.

One Conversation Details:

Thursday, October 11th at 4:00 pm to 8:15 pm. Happy Hour at 3:00 to 3:45 pm. Panelist Dinner at 8:30pm
Woodruff Arts Center; Hill Auditorium (One Conversation event) and Twelve Eighty Restaurant (Happy Hour and Dinner)
1280 Peachtree Street NE; Atlanta, GA 30309

For additional information, details and tickets, please visit <https://oneconversationatatime.com>.

Organizers

To maintain the integrity and neutrality of One Conversation, the One Conversation organizers purposely chose to not publicly fundraise nor tie the event to a specific organization or special interest group. Funding for One Conversation is provided by ticket sales and individual donations of which are heavily contributed personally by Dr. Kroner and Ms. Valas.

Dr. Shannon Kroner: When Dr. Kroner received inspiration for the idea of One Conversation, her persistence and determination shoveled the path for the event to come to fruition. A mother of two, Dr. Kroner has worked tirelessly to best utilize her expertise in Educational Therapy and Psychology to assist children and adults with development disorders and learning disabilities.

Britney Valas: Ms. Valas was approached by Dr. Kroner to partner together to develop this unique opportunity and while Ms. Valas was initially hesitant due to a busy schedule, she quickly and eagerly joined the One Conversation team as Co-Organizer with Dr. Kroner. Ms. Valas is the mother of five young children with a previous life working in Pharmaceuticals. Ms. Valas is passionate about learning current scientific information on a regular basis.

contact information: oneconversation@yahoo.com; 310-560-1331 (Kroner Cell); 828-485-8480 (Valas Cell)

