

Little explorer's February Newsletter

WHAT WE WILL BE LEARNING

This month, we will be exploring a Valentine's theme focused on love, kindness, and connection. We'll be reading sweet, simple stories that celebrate affection, friendship, and caring relationships perfect for nurturing a sense of security and belonging

At this age, babies learn best through loving interactions. Valentine-themed books and activities reinforce social-emotional growth, strengthen caregiver-child connections, and introduce early concepts like kindness, sharing, and recognizing familiar faces and emotions.

We will explore Valentine's cards and activities inspired by our theme of the month through colors, textures, and love.

COMING UP ...

1st-8th February: National Storytelling Week brings a cheerful baby rhyme time session and a friendly visit from Baby Bear.

9th-15th February: For Children's Mental Health Week, we'll head out for a soothing walk to the river to help ease stress and lift spirits.

Friday the 13th - To celebrate valentines day we encourage you to wear red or pink.

17th - Pancake day, the children will get the opportunity to make their own pancakes

INFO

We are excited to be expanding the sensory area in our room and would love support from our families—if you have any sensory items around the house that you may no longer need, we would happily accept donations such as small boxes, plastic bottles, old CDs, containers with lids, fabric scraps, scarves, or other safe household items that can be used for sensory play
