THE MOST HOLY BODY AND BLOOD OF CHRIST

The food God provides is unique and special. Take the manna God provided in the desert. Twice Moses says in our first reading that this food was unknown to their ancestors. The food that Jesus provides was also unknown to anyone's ancestors and it is even more special, for it is Christ's own Body and Blood. Saint Paul reminds us that we participate in the Body and Blood of Christ when we share the Eucharist, and Jesus tells us that whoever does so remains in him and he in us. As we listen to the word of God, let us listen for the many ways God feeds us.

Did you know that Catholics can make an Act of Spiritual Communion?

When unable to receive Holy Communion, pray the prayer below:

A Prayer for Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that you are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love you above all things and I desire to receive you in my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive you sacramentally, Come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace you as if you were already there and unite myself wholly to you. Never permit me to be separated from you.

Stewardship Reflection

That we answer God’s call to build his kingdom on earth and help each other get to Heaven! “Because there is one bread, we, who are many, are one body, for we all partake of the one bread.” 1 Corinthians 10:17 As disciples of Jesus, we are called to lead holy lives and invite others to join us. We are called to be fed and to feed others. Living a stewardship lifestyle, being grateful and generous with our gifts, serves a twofold purpose. One, it helps build God’s kingdom here on earth. Two, it helps us strengthen each other’s relationship with God the Father, Jesus, and the Holy Spirit. It becomes our roadmap to Heaven. Let’s help each other get there!

Some reflections inspired by online copyrighted commentaries and homilies

Solemnity of the Most Holy Body & Blood of Christ (Corpus Christi)

Today we mark the feast of Corpus Christi, or to give it its full title the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ. It is an important feast in the Liturgical Calendar, and it gives us the opportunity to reflect in more detail on the marvelous mystery of the Eucharist that is celebrated each day in Catholic Churches throughout the world.

Of course, you would be right to think that the most proper day to celebrate the Blessed Eucharist is Holy Thursday. And on that day earlier in the year, we thought quite a lot about the theology of the Eucharist. However, the Church gives us this additional feast over the year to reflect once again on the Eucharist, to give us the opportunity to deepen our thinking on this most vital sacrament.

The inauguration of the Holy Eucharist is celebrated first on Holy Thursday in its natural place the night before Jesus died on the Cross. But because that celebration takes place very much in the context of the sadness of the events of Christ's passion and death, the Church gives us this second feast in the course of the year to help us to get to explore more fully the Eucharist, the commemoration of the Last Supper.

Two Sundays ago, we celebrated Pentecost and last Sunday we celebrated the feast of the Blessed Trinity and now we commemorate the Blessed Eucharist. There is a certain logic to this sequence of celebrations. Pentecost is the Birthday of the Church and on the Feast of the Blessed Trinity we look at the very nature of God himself.

Today on the Feast of Corpus Christi, we examine how God continues to make himself present to his Church, how he sustains and nourishes us. And he achieves all this principally through the Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist. On the night before he died Jesus gave his disciples a Last Supper. It was a meal with a difference. It was a meal during which, and through which, he showed them the very depths of his love. He gave them special instructions both by word and example; the example being the washing of feet. And then, as we know, he took the bread, blessed and broke it and said: this is my body which is given up for you. Do this as a memorial of me. And then he did the same with the wine. By these actions Jesus brought into focus, and in a mysterious way actually made present, the events which were to happen on the following three days. And through our following out of Jesus' command, and doing this in memory of him, in an extraordinary way those same events are made present here on this altar, and in this Church and in our hearts. Through the intercession of Christ, the bread and wine are transformed into his body and blood. At the Mass we are united with the Last Supper and here on this altar just as then in the Upper Room we receive the body and blood of Christ in the form of bread and wine. I could go into the metaphysics of it if you like, but it is not necessary. The Lord who commanded the wind and the waves, who made water into wine, who by his word healed the paralytic, this same Lord offers us his body and blood under the form of these simple elements.

The Catechism of the Catholic Church describes the Eucharist as "the source and summit of the Christian Life." (CCC 1324) This is what we celebrate in a particular way on this Solemnity. It is the sacrifice of Jesus that is also a wonderful gift to us that nourishes us on our journey from life here to eternal life. Just as Jesus prepared the upper room for His Last Supper, we would do well to prepare ourselves for receiving the Eucharist. Taking the description from this Gospel our souls should be ready to receive Christ Jesus in this distinct way. Jesus said "Amen, Amen, I say to you unless you eat of the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood you do not have life within you. Whoever eat my flesh and drink my blood has eternal life, and I will raise them on the last day, for my flesh is true food and my blood is true drink.

The Eucharist is the sacrament that we encounter most often and through it we become the recipients of divine grace. Our attendance at the Eucharist is the principal means by which we stay close to God in our lives, it is the best way we know to give him true worship. By reverently receiving our Lord in the Eucharist we feed the life of the Spirit that is within us.

Finally, we should be ready. This involves being mindful of who it is we receive in the Eucharist and of preparing ourselves to welcome him. We are ready when we are attentive to his presence and humbly approach him in order to receive him. The Body and Blood of Christ are a gift we can receive every day, and because of this we can take the beauty and grandeur for granted. May we grow in mindfulness of the real presence of Christ in this most Blessed Sacrament. Let us praise and thank God for this great gift which enables us to be united with Christ's work of redemption in a real and most intimate way. And let us celebrate this Eucharist in his memory and come to communion with him as we share his Body and Blood.
