It may seem strange to pray for someone who is already dead and who, according to our earthly reckoning of time, has already undergone judgment. But God is not subject to the constrictions of time as we understand them. Our prayers for the dead are, like our prayers for the living, an expression of charity and the unity that exists between all members of the Body of Christ. Please use your All Souls Day Envelopes to remember your loved ones who are deceased. These envelopes will remain on the Altar throughout the month of November.

Please Pray for...

SOLEMNITY OF ALL SAINTS

On the Solemnity of All Saints, our readings look ahead to the day when we hope to join God and all the saints in the heavenly kingdom. What will that day look like? Will we be part of a great multitude standing before the throne of the Lamb? What or whom will we see in the face of God? Will we each be like God? Jesus, who knew well the blessings of heaven, promised his disciples that those who here on earth are poor in spirit, or mournful, or clean of heart, or are persecuted, will one day see that reward. Let us treasure this sweet hope as we listen to God's word.

Retired Priests Collection

Help support and care for these men who have given their lives in service to the Church.

Did you know that Catholics can make an Act of Spiritual Communion?

When unable to receive Holy Communion, pray the prayer below:

A Prayer for Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that you are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love you above all things, and I desire to receive you in my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive you sacramentally, Come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace you as if you were already there and unite myself wholly to you. Never permit me to be separated from you.

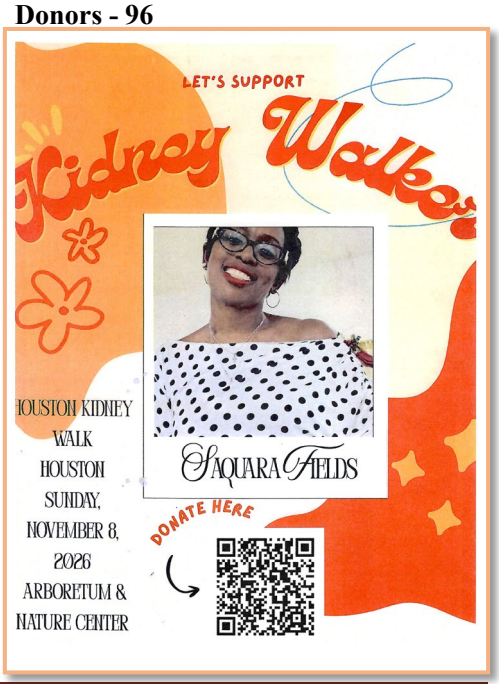

Stewardship Reflection

That we ask God to help us grow in the virtue of humility. "Whoever exalts himself will be humbled; but whoever humbles himself will be exalted." - Matthew 23:12 The world celebrates people in the spotlight and those who have the most of everything. We think celebrity, money and possessions is the key to happiness. Yet our world is filled with more loneliness, anxiety and depression than ever before. The key to a happy life is relationships. Relationship with God and each other. Trust is the foundation of any good relationship and humility is the seed of trust.

Feast of All Saints

The word 'All' in the title of today's feast is important. Today we celebrate not just the canonized saints but all those who lived holy lives and are now with God in heaven, most of whom have not received any formal recognition from the church. This is what is referred to in today's first reading as a 'huge number, impossible to count, of people from every nation, race, tribe and language.' What distinguishes them is that they opened themselves fully to the Lord's presence and allowed him to live in them. All of them, in separate ways, reflected something of the portrait of the disciple that Jesus paints for us in the beatitudes of today's gospel reading.

In the beatitudes, Jesus is giving us a portrait of the saint we are all called to become. The different beatitudes could be understood as like the different pieces of colored glass that make up a stained-glass window. In one sense, Jesus is giving us a self-portrait. He is uniquely the person that is portrayed in those beatitudes. Yet, he was also showing us the kind of person that he calls us all to be and can empower us to be through his Spirit. Whereas the beatitudes portray the disciple of Jesus, each individual beatitude is itself a way of following the Lord.

Some ways of following the Lord will come more naturally to us than others. We might find ourselves drawn to some of the beatitudes more than to others. If we give expression in our lives to any one of the beatitudes, it can easily lead to the living out of all the others. Some people may be drawn to the beatitude, 'Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for what is right,' for the coming of God's kingdom on earth. Such people will also tend to inhabit the beatitude, 'Blessed are those who mourn,' because they will mourn over the presence of sin, the absence of goodness, love and justice, in their own lives and in the lives of others and in our world; they mourn that the kingdom of heaven is not yet a reality on earth. Such people will tend to be merciful, showing merciful love to those who cry out for it; they will be peacemakers, working to reconcile those who are divided. Some people might be drawn to the beatitude, 'Blessed are the pure in heart.' The pure in heart are those whose heart given over to God before all else.

They will know the Lord's joy in this life and in eternity. In the beatitudes, Jesus is putting before us a whole way of life that is worth striving for. We will not always give expression to the beatitudes fully. We will always fall short of this vision for human living that the Lord puts before us. All the Lord expects is that having asked his forgiveness, we keep journeying on, pressing on towards this goal, with the help of the Holy Spirit.

The Lord calls all of us to be saints, even though he knows we are also sinners. Saint Paul in his letters refers to all the baptized as saints. He addresses his letters to the saints of God in a particular city, all the members of the church. Paul is reminding us that we are already saints, in the sense that the Holy Spirit has been poured into our lives from the moment of our baptism.

Through the Spirit, we have come to share in Jesus' own relationship with God, calling God, 'Abba, Father.' Saint John in today's second reading calls on us to 'think of the love that the Father has lavished on us by letting us be called children of God,' and it goes on, 'we are already the children of God,' already sons and daughters of God. God has already done and continues to do an excellent work, a holy work, in our lives.

Our calling is to keep opening ourselves up ever more fully to what God is doing in our lives, by keeping the path of the beatitudes always in view. At the end of our earthly journey, we will come to that eternal moment when, in the words of the second reading, 'we shall become like God, because we shall see him as he really is.' Then, we will finally and fully be the person of the beatitudes, we will be holy as God is holy, as loving as God is loving, and we will join that 'huge number, impossible to count, referred to in the first reading.

Congratulations!

"Nourished by the Word, Sent to the World"

Saturday, November 14, 2026 | 9-noon

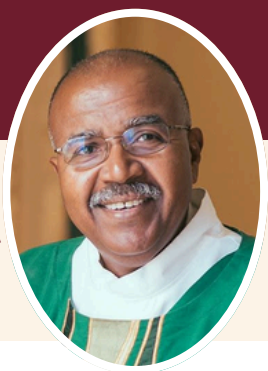

St. Laurence Catholic Church Ave Maria Center, 3103 Sweetwater Blvd, Sugar Land, TX

Join us for an inspiring morning of fellowship, deep reflection, and joyful praise. Together, we will honor the history of courageous priests, deacons, and sisters who nurtured the faith of African American Catholics in trying circumstances —and explore how we can foster a new generation of vocations today. Whether you are a student of history, a parish leader, a catechist, or simply seeking to deepen your faith, all are welcome!

Keynote Speaker: Dr. Cecilia Moore
Scholar & Church Historian
Associate Professor of Religion, University of Dayton
