TWENTY-SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

There is nothing outside a person that by going in can defile, but the things that come out are what defile.

Mark 7:15, NRSV

Do we take God's word to heart and act upon it? Moses—about to reveal the commandments—calls on the people to observe God's word carefully and faithfully. In his letter, James asks us to welcome God's word and put it into action. In the Gospel, Jesus warns the scribes and Pharisees that they confuse human tradition with God's commands. Listening to God's word, let us consider how it guides our actions.

Stewardship Reflection

That we may not only hear God's word, but also learn to live it every day of our lives. "Be doers of the word and not hearers only..." James 1:22 It's easy to understand the definition of stewardship – living a grateful and generous life. The hard part is doing it! How do your actions reflect God's word? Do you share your time in prayer with God? Do you use your talent to help those in need? Are you generous with your financial resources? If not, what are you waiting for?

Did you know that Catholics can make an Act of Spiritual Communion?

When unable to receive Holy Communion, pray the prayer below:

A Prayer for Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that you are present in the Most Holy Sacrament.

I love you above all things and I desire to receive you in my soul.

Since I cannot at this moment receive you sacramentally, Come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace you as if you were already there and unite myself wholly to you. Never permit me to be separated from you. Amen.

Marching Orders to the Jews and Followers of Christ

Before a game or war begins, even though there has been a lot of preparation, there is always a talk to the players or soldiers. Such talks sometimes come from the coach directly to the players or down the military chain of command. Sometimes it is an exaltation and other times a command. Many of us do the same thing when our children are going to school or undertaking new adventures of life. Often such talks become the catalyst for success.

The Book of Deuteronomy gives us an insight to the marching orders given by Moses as the Israelites entered the promised land. Having recalled their escape from Egypt and the journey through the Sinai desert, the book of Deuteronomy re-emphasizes the privilege of the Hebrew people, chosen by God from all other people to enter an unprecedented relationship with Him. Moses knew that he would die before the crossing and that he would not cross the Jordan into the Promised Land with them. So, he had some words of encouragement and command for the people before his departure.

He urged them to fulfill the Law that God had given, for these Laws are reminders that God's might and goodness are present among them. They were to fulfill the law with its commandments, customs and statutes as a way of life. If they follow this plan of God's salvation, they will receive inheritance, which is understood as peaceful life in the land. This is because God loves his people and wants them to prosper, and this will happen only if they keep God's law. For Moses, those who do the right thing will be blessed by God; and those who choose not to do so will suffer the consequences of their choices. Since the Law of God brings life, Moses, advised them to choose life and they and their descendants will live (Deut. 30:19). To encourage the right choice, Moses shared with the people the advantages of observing the Law, namely: The law brings life; a land of their own; wisdom and intelligence; and closeness to God. Thus, their survival and sanctity depend on keeping the law.

Over time and with the Persian, Hellenistic and Roman occupations, this Mosaic law became the object of increasing restatement and elaboration. The legal compilation became known as "Oral Law" or "the Traditions of the Elders" which governed almost every aspect of life including "how to walk" and "wash hands."

Writing to a non-Jewish audience Mark sought to explain these Jewish customs and traditions. Even though these customs and traditions are not scripture based, according to the Pharisees they were deemed to be sinful should one not observe them. Jesus, speaking with divine authority, not only points out the contradiction of the Tradition to the Law, but also told them: "Nothing that enters a person from outside can defile that person." Nothing from outside can make a person sinful. Thus, even though there may be some values in the customs and traditions, they cannot by themselves make a person sinful.

Reacting to the controversy concerning the relationship between the Law and the Gospel, James addressed the misunderstanding of Paul's idea that: (1) the law no longer has value and so no place in the life of a disciple of Jesus, and (2) that faith is all you need for salvation, and (3) the works of the law were not necessary. For James, works are necessary aspects of lived faith. Thus, he charges the followers of Christ to be doers of the word and not hearers only.

So today we are reminded of the marching orders Moses gave to the Israelites before they crossed the Jordan, namely: observe the Law. Jesus has striped the customs and traditions that have blurred the Law of Moses. Despite their usefulness, these customs and traditions do not have the capability to defile a person. St. James asks us to be doers to the Law not just hearers of the law. In other words, put the law in our daily life by practicing the corporal works of mercy. We must be doers of the word of God with love and not just out of duty else we go wrong. This is living the faith of Jesus Christ.
