TWENTY-SIXTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

WHOEVER
is not against us
IS FOR US.

Mark 9:40

Joshua stands ready to condemn those who prophesy without God's authority, but Moses praises God's generous gift of the spirit, no matter on whom it might come to rest. Jesus similarly tells John that anyone doing mighty deeds in his name should be welcomed. May the Holy Spirit, bestowed on us in baptism, lead us to speak and do great things.

The last Bazaar Team Meeting is scheduled for October 5th at 6:00p.m. in the Harris Center Auditorium.

The Health Ministry would like to thank the participants in our Prostrate Heath Seminar. Dr. Douglas Dow delivered another enlightening, informative and fact-filled presentation. One of the main take-a-ways involved the African American male with a family history of cancer. He is at risk if the family history includes metastatic or lethal cancer, breast cancer, male or female and other cancers, especially if there are underlying conditions, such as diabetes, which is rampant in the African-American community. Gentlemen, please get regular checkups.

Did you know that Catholics can make an Act of Spiritual Communion?

When unable to receive Holy Communion, pray the prayer below:

A Prayer for Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that you are present in the Most Holy Sacrament.

I love you above all things and I desire to receive you in my soul.

Since I cannot at this moment receive you sacramentally, Come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace you as if you were already there and unite myself wholly to you. Never permit me to be separated from you. Amen.

Stewardship Reflection

Remembering that we will be judged by what we do for the least among us, may we give generously and joyfully to support all those in need. "Anyone who gives you a cup of water to drink because you belong to Christ, amen, I say to you, will surely not lose his reward." Mark 9:41 We are made in God's image and likeness. We tend to forget this. When you look at others, do you see the face of Jesus in them? When others look at you, do they see the face of Jesus in you? When we realize that all lives matter to God, then gratitude and generously become easier. Why? Because that's the way we are made! We are one Body of Christ; when one of us is hurting, all of us feel the pain.

Pastor's Reflection

Called to Prophecy

Many of us Christians believe in the prophetic mission of God. We acknowledge that all are called to work in different ways in the Lord's vineyard. However, we waste no time in letting others know that this is an exclusive mission and that things are done only in a certain way. We do this by the way we talk and act. We expect newcomers to be trained and initiated into the group before they "prophecy" as a member of the group.

At an annual church bazaar, a pastor was called to the kitchen to settle a dispute that could potentially mar the whole bazaar. The dispute was about different styles of cutting and cooking the vegetables. The kitchen leader and her group have over the years mastered a style of doing things their way. But the new volunteers have come up with different approaches. The dispute over the differences spilled into other areas of work in the kitchen. The new volunteers felt unwelcomed and were ready to walk out. The old volunteers were thinking that the new ones have not known the system enough to introduce another approach, even if they were warranted. They felt despised by the newcomers and so objected to their new style.

The delicate dance between the new and old happens all the time in almost every organization. As the saying goes: We all want change as long as they do not have to involve me. No one is perceived as good enough until he/she has earned the spot.

Unfortunately, this exclusive behavior has extended to our Christian movement. For example, the Catholic Church for centuries has been unnerved by the free movement of the Spirit. The Church has been suspicious of others who call on Jesus' name, especially to get rid of evil. Why? Because they do not profess the Catholic faith and neither have they risen within the ranks of believers as Jesus' recognized disciples.

Today we are invited to look beyond the limits we have set for ourselves and think of how God's prophetic spirit is poured out freely on all people. This Spirit of God calls us at will to be open to others who have received God's gifts, speak truth to power, and to be self-reflective for the sake of fostering and maintaining right relationships with all people.

Scriptures remind us that no one person or group enjoys monopoly of the spirit. As seen in our first reading, having been accustomed to his leadership and the way he mediated with God on behalf of his people, the Israelites accepted that Moses was endowed with God's spirit. For the most part, the people accepted Moses's counsel and directions. But when the Spirit was made manifest through others, the Israelites questioned Medad's and Eldad's right to prophecy.

On their journey through the Sanai desert, the Israelites became disgruntled travelers. Frightening in the unfriendly wilderness, they repeatedly complained to God and to Moses, e.g., for their lack of food and water.

Although they have been slaves in Egypt, the rigorous conditions of their journey made them reminisce for the "good old days in Egypt" where they filled themselves with fish, and cucumbers, melons, leeks onions and garlic (Num 11:15). Like a burned-out leader (Num 11:14-15), even Moses began to see his role as a burden that he alone had to carry. God intervened and awakened His spirit in other leaders who the people had chosen. From their experience, the people believed that God's Spirit follows certain protocols. Thus, the surprise when God's spirit moved outside the Tents and moved free and could not be controlled or monopolized or manipulated. The Spirit came upon Eldad and Medad who were not in the Meeting Tent. Representing the sentiments of the Israelites, Joshua objected to the freelancing spirit. To this objection Moses responded with a wish that the Spirit could be given to everyone. Jesus made real Moses' answer when he told John and his companions not to prevent anyone who performs mighty deeds in the name Jesus and the Holy Spirit.

This attempt to stifle the free movement of the Holy Spirit is repeated in our Gospel reading. John, representing the rest of the disciples, informed Jesus how they too tried to stop someone not in their company from driving out demons in Jesus' name.

Before the Second Vatican Council, when the Spirit of God moved and breathe among people in a manner different from what was expected, it was felt as a breach of protocol. Such movement was vehemently opposed and rejected. So, the church taught as a doctrine that "outside the Church, no salvation". It took the Church Council in the 1960s to nullify this teaching.

This wish of Moses became realized when the Holy Spirit breathe on all in the upper room and beyond freely and without bias or prejudice by the Risen Lord. To help us avoid trying to limit the promptings of the Holy Spirit and avoid scandals but lead others to God and holiness rather than to sin, Jesus teaches us to forgo our intimate sins. Since so many of the choices we make are filled with challenges, Jesus asks us to fortify ourselves with prayer and the Holy Spirit will help us with all that is good, true, just and holy when we prophesy.
