FIFTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Moses speaks to a sinful people in the first reading, pleading with them to keep the LORD's commandments as they repent with their whole heart and soul. In the Gospel, a scholar of the law—of all God's commandments—goes one step further, asking Jesus what he must do to inherit eternal life. Realizing that loving one's neighbor is at the heart of the answer, he asks Jesus who his neighbor is. It is in this context that Jesus tells the parable of the Good Samaritan, asking the questioner who was the true neighbor. May today's readings inspire us to accept the challenge to treat all others—friends or stranger—as worthy of our love.

Who is my neighbor?

In this Sunday's Gospel reading, we see the classic story of Jesus and the legal expert who, after hearing from Jesus the rudiments of the Gospel call of loving God and others, asks the age-old question: "Who is my neighbor?"

It is a provocative inquiry, one which cuts to the heart of the human impulse to value oneself above all other things. On the one hand, it can seem that the scholar was genuinely interested in the answer, wanting to know who to target with his love in a sea of beggars and needy people. On the other hand, the "scholars of the law" are not pictured in the gospels as willing vessels of God's goodness; indeed, it seems more likely that the question was meant to trap Jesus and allow the questioner to escape his responsibilities.

Our Savior, detecting the ruse, answers as only the Messiah can, explaining with a parable that we are constantly surrounded by our "neighbors". Wherever we go, we are given the opportunity to serve those around us as though they were members of our families—as, in God, they truly are.

He tells the story of a man beaten senseless and left for dead, with no one to help him but passersby—clerics and church-folk, no less. No one stops to help but a social outcast, a man seen as lesser by Jewish society. A Samaritan gives his all and honors God by serving the least of these despite the risk and ridicule.

By the end of the tale, Jesus has turned the entire conversation on its head, asking a question of his own: "Who was a neighbor to the victim?" Here, he reveals that mercy is the key. Our neighbor is whomever is in need of God's grace, from us, in their time of need.

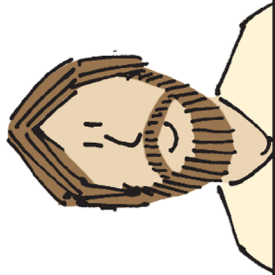

Today, in a world seemingly filled with increasing violence and poverty and social unrest, it is us, the people of God, who are called to ignore all naysayers and offer compassion to the lost and forgotten, those who may be cast aside in the name of religion and decorum. Victims of gun violence, greed, clericalism, and church hurt are those to whom we must go, saying "Peace be with you" and lending a helping hand.

As Jesus told the scholar, "Do this, and you will live." Luke 10:25-37.
