Factors and Multiples

We have been learning about prime numbers this week. They only have two factors, and can ONLY be divided by 1 and themselves, without leaving a remainder.

There are EIGHT prime numbers between 1-20. Can you list them all? Remember, not ALL odd numbers are prime. Oh... and there is ONE even prime number, so watch out for that one.

Boosties - Try @ Home

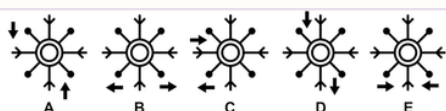

This week, our Boosties were learning all about place value, including rounding.

Can you remember the rounding rule? Do you know a song/rhyme to help you recall what to do? If not, why not create your own? I'd love to hear it!

Here's a question to get you thinking:

What is this number, when rounded to 2 decimal places? 9.895

11+ NVR Can you solve this one?

Which is the odd one out?

Week 2@ Tuition Towers...

What a fantastic week we've had! The students have all turned up with a smile on their face, and in a positive and 'ready to learn' frame of mind. The children who attend these sessions, endlessly amaze us all! We learn so much from them, and the way they tackle challenges, and turn towards the 'tough stuff'. They're also full of fascinating facts. Just this week, I learned that a shape with 167 sides is called a hectohexacontaheptagon.

Thanks George!
