Spotlights

Busking Ordinance: It finally happened! The city now has an ordinance allowing busking (street performers)! It took a lot of people like Kevin King laying the ground work, we Howlers being really annoying, and then Councilors Johnson and McInnis carrying the ball into the end zone, but at last it is here!

But, I'll be honest it isn't the easiest permit to get. So to that end, we are getting all of our ducks in a row so that we can walk people through every step of the process. Once we have a permit in hand so that we know for sure we did things correctly, we will be hosting some sign-up nights to get would be performers all set up. We hope that will be within the next couple of weeks, so keep an eye on our socials. We are also accepting donations to pay for folks permits (they will be 25 bucks each).

Ravello: For those out of the loop, the Vintage Hospitality group has opened their latest restaurant, and wow, it's fancy y'all! Ravello is the name, and they serve fine dining Italian food in a classy, restored bank building. I had the pleasure of getting to attend the soft open, and I can attest the food is excellent. They also have some mighty tasty drinks, and including the best moscato I think I have ever had. If you can get a reservation, do so!

Mad Stitches: Our monthly knitting meetup will not be happening this month, as the library has changed its hours. We will be coming back in July, on the second Monday of each month.
