Spotlights

Change in Focus: Here in Howler Land we have been living the age old adage that adult life is just getting ever busier until you die. We haven't died yet, but we are perpetually getting busier. To that end we will no longer be organizing any new monthly meet-ups. We are also stopping our monthly board game meetup. We simply have too much on our plates to be able to dedicate a fixed time like that each month, as our responsibility at home and work are ever changing. So our focus is shifting to one off, larger events like our planned Goldthwaite Art Festival on May 20th. We hope to provide more value to the community by helping organize broader ranging events that will help draw more eyes to the hilltop and surrounding areas, and look forward to seeing you at them. We are also about to totally redo the formating and such of these fliers, to make them a little more useful we hope.
