SPOTLIGHTS

Business: Red Bluff Bar

Fans Riverfront park have often been frustated by the on again/off again nature of the bar overlooking the river. Excitingly though it has come under new management (the Vintage Hospitality Group), and is set to open 4/15/21.

Art: Anarcha Lucy Betsey Monument

Open 10-5, Thrusday through Sunday on 17 Mildred Street, make a point to go see this stunning iron work statuary dedicated to the Mothers of Modern Gyncology. The work of Michelle Browder, it honors the women who were horrificly tested upon in the name of science, and is a direct response to the statue of the man who performed those surgeries (which resides on the capital grounds).

Music: Drew Martin

Long time fans of the local independent will remember Drew as a member of BPM (once known as Bulletproof Marshmallows), long time staples as first a ska, then reggae band. Drew however has recently struck out as a solo artist, releasing his work on bandcamp. There you can also pick up his poetry collection. You can see him perform on the 15th.
