

A HOWLER GUIDEBOOK TO WEIRD MONTGOMERY 2

In our second guide to the Weird and Spooky, we branch out into the surrounding counties.

Spectre Set Ruins

Where part of the 2003 film Big fish was filmed, you can visit this abandoned movie set. While some of the buildings have burned down, a good number still remain.

1059-1065 Cypress Ln
Millbrook, Alabama, 36054

The Cross Garden

"Hell is hot," warns one of the many signs that R.C. Fields put up in his lifetime. Dead now, his massive garden of crosses lives on.

1412-1414, Co Rd 86,
Prattville, Alabama 36067

The Bamboo Forest

This 26 acre park is a veritable slice of southeast Asia, and was used as a training ground for soldiers headed to the Vietnam war. Today there are some nice trails, lots of large frogs, and towering bamboo over 80 feet high.

800 Upper Kingston Rd,
Prattville, Alabama

Wetumpka Impact Crater Marker

Did you know that downtown Wetumpka basically sits just east of an impact crater from a giant meteor strike? This astrobleme (star wound), is between 80-83 million years old.

6246-6422 AL-21
Wetumpka, AL 36092

The Grave of Creama Tartar

How odd must your nickname be to get you into a museum? Creama Tartar odd it would seem. You can see this grave, which was once featured on postcards, in the Elmore County Museum.

112 S Main St
Millbrook, AL 36054

Red Door Theatre

Located in Union Springs, this once church is now a community theatre with a man buried beneath it's floor. While in town, you should also check out the Pauly Jail, which still has a gallows and trap door.

101 N Prairie St
Union Springs, AL 36089
