FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Cyprus Cremation Society Appoints ADP as Architect for New Crematorium Facility

The Cyprus Cremation Society is pleased to announce the appointment of ADP, a Larnaca-based architecture studio, as lead architect for a new crematorium facility in Cyprus.

The project is envisioned as a place of stillness, clarity, and reflection—an environment that supports ceremony, remembrance, and transition with dignity and care. The architectural approach seeks to create spaces for farewell and quiet gathering that are emotionally sensitive, restrained, and timeless, responding thoughtfully to the profound social and cultural role the facility will serve.

ADP will lead the architectural vision for the project, working in close collaboration with the Cyprus Cremation Society and the wider consultant team to translate these values into a meaningful and enduring built form.

“This is a project that calls for humility and care. Our aim is to design an architecture that serves silence, light, and memory—spaces that offer comfort without imposition. We are honored to be entrusted with such a meaningful commission.”

Andreas Papallas, Associate Director, ADP

The Cyprus Cremation Society views this project as a significant step toward providing a contemporary and respectful setting for cremation services in Cyprus—one that acknowledges the emotional needs of individuals and families while reflecting broader cultural values of remembrance and respect.

About ADP

ADP is a Cyprus-based architecture studio dedicated to creating spaces that foster connection, wellbeing, and a deep sense of place. With a strong focus on community and contextual intelligence, ADP approaches each project as an opportunity to listen carefully—to the land, the people, and the cultural landscape. Rooted in research and driven by clarity of concept, the studio designs architecture that is restrained, purposeful, and emotionally attuned. ADP’s work is defined by its commitment to human-centered design and sensitivity to the environments it inhabits.
