Note 1 It is estimated that adjusting for the size difference, the savings would be over 78.5% which is what our detailed calculation revealed 13 years ago.

Note 2 Inquiring minds wanted to know how our energy savings fair up over time. We can conclude that there is virtually no difference - even 13 years later!

Note 3 13 years ago the 36 month calculations were done on energy consumption and the above is done on energy costs. As you can see they both result in the same energy savings!

Note 4 The Omnicrete home was built in 2007 and was our first home built with our patented system. The conventionally built rental home is located in central Florida known by the principals of Omnicrete.
