Drawing my dreams in the air
I have no ground under my feet

Just a little more and I'll be carried away

My skin gets polished
Fine as glass
It gets hot, and so I catch fire

Smile on the outside, don't say a word
I had to do something
Freedom doesn't come on its own

To release myself from this curse
I had to do something
The gate is open, and finally, I'm free

In my own kingdom entirely
Captured in the inner world
Under the dome of solitude
Isolation maximized

I've lost my language
No clue anymore how to talk
Confused after every interaction
Lost within myself

PRE-CHORUS

What's right, what's wrong?

VERSE

This is a distress call for help
And it doesn't just come from me

The antenna's heating up
Our hands are reached out, forming a large circle
And you're a part of it too

No one else
When you say it's a march for life, then for all lives!
Our bodies
Our decision

We're not property, still not
We're not controlled by others
Still not
We're not solitary fighters

For the perfect counterpart hidden somewhere
But I say we build it together

A well that's empty
A river without fish
Drop by drop, my glass fills
And I hope it's not just a phase
Deep down, I know it always comes again

First black and white, then all colorful
The inner voice says: come on, do it

A thousand times searching, a thousand times finding

Hollowed out, sucked dry
Right at the bottom
Pessimistic, hope gone
No ideas, just mess

CHORUS

Droplet by droplet, it's getting better
Just do it, just a little courage
Further, further, independent
Self-drive, unbridled
Waterfall, storm surge
Downpour without an umbrella
Droplet by droplet, it's getting better
Just do it, just a little courage
Further, further, independent
Self-drive, unbridled
Waterfall, storm surge
