The Widow's Mite

In today's gospel, Jesus is observing how people of his time were making donations. But another interpretation needs to be opened up. This gospel is really a metaphor for true discipleship, a central theme in the Gospel of Mark. What does it mean to be a disciple of Jesus?

The rich gave great sums and thought themselves completely generous and religious, even though they had even more riches from which to give. But a poor widow with no wealth or status contributed two small coins worth almost nothing. Yet she contributed all she had. Calling his disciples to him, Jesus praises the widow more than the rich contributors who gave a small portion of their abundance, because she gave all she had.

Disciples, too, give all they have without counting the cost, calculating self-gain, or seeking attention. The "whole livelihood" disciples give their very selves. Simply contributing isn't the issue; it matters not whether what we give is large or small. What ultimately matters are the gift of self which marks a true disciple of Jesus.

Giving is easy when you have much. But how easy is it to give all? We all know that such actions involve a trust in God along with a compassion for others that is indeed heroic. Throughout the Gospel according to Mark, Jesus instructs his disciples that true power and status in God's eyes involves giving of one's life for the sake of others. Jesus will soon offer himself completely for others, as he accepts the cross. Are his disciples to do any less? Trust in God and do not fear to give all.

Question for reflection: What does it mean to be a disciple of Jesus? Am I willing to pay the total cost?

Tuesday: St. Frances Xavier Cabrini

St. Frances Xavier Cabrini was born as Maria Francesca Cabrini on July 15, 1850 in Sant' Angelo Lodigiano, Lombardy, Italy and received a convent education at a school ran by the Daughters of the Sacred Heart. She applied for admission to the religious congregation of the Daughters of the Sacred Heart, but was turned down because of her poor health. Finally, she made her vows in 1877 and she found the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart to care for the poor children in both schools and hospitals.

Frances wanted to continue her mission in China, but Pope Leo XIII urged her to go to the United States, a nation that was becoming flooded with Italian immigrants who needed her help. "Not to the East, but the West," was his advice to her.

On March 31, 1889, Frances arrived in New York City along with six other sisters ready to begin her new journey. However, right from the beginning she encountered many disappointments and hardships. The house originally attended for her new orphanage was no longer available, but Frances did not give up, even though the archbishop insisted she return to Italy.

Frances then received permission to found an orphanage in what is now West Park, New York and now known as Saint Cabrini Home.

Filled with a deep trust in God and endowed with a wonderful administrative ability, Frances founded 67 institutions, including orphanages, schools, and hospitals, within 35 years dedicated to caring for the poor, uneducated, sick, abandoned, and especially for the Italian immigrants. Her institutions were spread out in places all over the United States, including New York, Colorado, and Illinois.

Frances was known for being as resourceful as she was prayerful. She was always able to find people to donate their money, time, and support for her institutions.

In 1909, Frances became a naturalized citizen of the United States.

Eight years later, on December 22, 1917, Frances passed at the age of 67, due to complications from dysentery at the Columbus Hospital, one of her own hospitals, in Chicago, Illinois.

St. Frances Xavier Cabrini was beatified on November 13, 1938, by Pope Pius XI and canonized by Pope Pius XII on July 7, 1946, making her the first United States citizen to be canonized. Her feast day is celebrated on November 13 and she is the patron saint of immigrants.
