

Sit down if you haven't experienced a traditional Italian 'siesta' in a small town.

Sit down if you haven't attended a birthday party in Italy.

Sit down if you haven't celebrated Mother's Day or Father's Day in Italy.

Sit down if you haven't been in Italy during Christmas.

Sit down if you haven't experienced celebrating New Year's Eve in Italy.

Sit down if you haven't visited the Vatican during Easter.

Sit down if you haven't been part of a baptism celebration in Italy.

Sit down if you haven't celebrated an anniversary in Italy.

Sit down if you haven't witnessed a traditional Italian wedding.

Sit down if you haven't been part of a 'Festa della Repubblica' celebration in Italy.

Sit down if you have never tasted authentic Italian gelato in Rome.

Sit down if you haven't participated in a grape harvest in Tuscany.

Sit down if you haven't seen a live opera performance in an Italian opera house.

Sit down if you haven't experienced Mardi Gras in Venice.

Sit down if you have not attended a celebratory event in Italy.

Sit down if you have not attended a Napa Son's of Italy celebratory event (fundraiser, Christmas party, etc.).

Tie Braker (should we need it)

How do you say it in Italian:

1. Happy Birthday - Buon Compleanno
2. Happy Anniversary - Buon Anniversario
3. Merry Christmas - Buon Natale
4. Happy New Year - Felice Anno Nuovo
5. Happy Mother's Day - Buona festa della mamma
6. Happy Easter - Buona Pasqua
7. Let's go party - Andiamo a festeggiare
8. Who is the Italian old woman and when does she come out – La Befana Natale, Jan 5
9. When is Ferragosto and what does it celebrate – Aug 15, day of rest from agriculture work
10. What is New Year's Day called – Capodanno
11. La Settimana Santa refers to what? – Holy Week leading to Easter Sunday.
12. La Vendemmia celebrates what? – Wine harvest