

RECCOMENDATIONS

Barry Gilway: CEO Citizens Property Insurance Co. (Ret.) , 11/16/2023

Guy,

Having been in the trenches while litigation reform was at first visualized then past it is important to recognize the critical role you played in this process. You were the first to develop extensive analytics that clearly highlighted Florida's litigation problems. You then took a leading position in conducting extensive research that demonstrated exactly what was occurring and in offering solutions. I have always been so impressed with your analytical skills and the research you were able to conduct showing where our problems were and why they were occurring. The Florida market owes you a debt of gratitude for playing this leadership role. Many thanks.

Letter of recommendation

To whom it may concern

Guy Fraker worked on various research projects for approximately 36 months studying trends in Florida's challenging property and casualty insurance market. His knowledge of the Florida insurance market and insights contained in his various reports were deeply valued while I was in the Florida Senate.

We are appreciative of his research and wish him well in his future endeavors. Please let us if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Jeff Brandes

STRATEGIC ORGANIZATION ADVISOR TRATEGIC ORGANIZATION November 9, 2023,

Bill worked with Guy

My strong endorsement of Mr. Fraker comes from our work redesigning the organizational structure of State Farm. As part of a task force of executives and outside consultants, Guy stood out as a key contributor, often providing critical operational insights combined with his ability meld the disparate viewpoints into sensible recommendations.

Add to his intellectual and interpersonal skills, varied job experiences in both a technical and managerial areas. It was these skills that brought him to the attention of the CEO, causing him to be appointed to the task force that redesigned State Farm.

Being a quick learner with a superior intellect, Guy would be strong addition to any organizational effort, whether as a leader or advisor.

I have been fortunate to work with Guy through a formal client relationship and then continue to learn from him for a relationship that has now spanned many years. He has a great ability of tracking emerging trends and tying them back to how they might create new opportunities.

Mr. Guy C. Fraker
Director of Global Foresight Analysis
State Farm Insurance Corporation

Dear Mr. Fraker:

I want to thank you again for agreeing to speak on a panel at the Department of the Treasury's International Symposium on the U.S. Financial Services Sector Pandemic Flu Exercise of 2007. By all accounts, the guests left the symposium feeling far better informed about business continuity planning for an extraordinary event like a pandemic than when they arrived. We have already received positive feedback from organizations rethinking their own preparations based on ideas imparted on January 29th.

The frankness and insights of the panelists contributed substantially to the success of the symposium. The lively discussion amongst your colleagues on the "Lessons Learned" panel was particularly interesting because it had not been prepared as a series of slides. The candor of the discussion carried through to the end of the day and generated thoughtful questions from the audience. Your remarks reflecting the views of someone from the insurance industry added balance and considerable insight to the discussion.

It has been a pleasure to work with you, however briefly, during this symposium. I look forward to an opportunity to work together again on the important topic of financial sector resilience.

Sincerely,
