

MMW-2 Learning Ohana Music

Asur'Ana and Per and their organization have been learning Ohana music. As the music of ohana is embraced, one begins to catch a new script associated with the new dream that Terra is weaving for humankind. The new scripts are for fulfillment of one's dreams upon the physical plane. Fulfillment is vastly lacking in most human lives; and those dedicated to the spiritual path often struggle to feel fulfilled regardless of script you have inherited.

Scripts themselves are non-fulfilling except for those on the very top of civilization, who have so much dream that they can create so much more that this may lead to a sense of greater fulfillment. Those ascending have often had a lack of dream, and that lack often catches in the dance of life as lack of funds, or lack of a beloved, or lack of a satisfying job, or lack of a satisfying place to live, etc. Most outside of the very top of civilization receive a script for partial fulfillment in the polarity between dreams. The net result is some fulfillment but more nonfulfillment than fullness of dream. The music of ohana begins to shift this so that those map making can create more fulfillment than non-fulfillment in the dance of life.

Love and Dream

As one opens to the love and blesses, more dream is created. Why is this so? Love causes dreams to expand. As dreams expand, they have greater capacity to catch in the dance of life and as one intends them so. The love also alters the dream to call towards oneself that which is loving; loving unto oneself and loving unto others too. The net result is a large shift in the scripts that humans can catch amongst those who bless, and the scripts allow for the heightened capacity to experience feeling "alive and well" as well as loved from within in physicality.

Most dreams are so lacking in the human dance that there is little chi; the result is often those who walk around like zombies; or live a mechanical existence in the workplace or at home. The zombie like energy is also associated with the media and video games which program humans to be docile; however, the script is one of boredom and depression along with listlessness and lack of chi.

Then humans vie to create excitement in taking drugs or drinking too much, or using herbs or caffeine to stimulate the body. Alas the over stimulation will just weaken the overall countenance of the hormonal system and this will lead to ascending into disease. Therefore, a proper diet is recommended for ascension with only those herbs ingested that support and sustain the health of each transformation cycle ahead.

The new scripts are difficult to catch amongst those who still wish to participate in the media, whether it be in the focus of books, magazines, television, movies or surfing the web. All of these focuses will draw an old script to the dance of life that is filled with the same dramas, traumas, discord, and non-fulfillment of the past. Therefore, Terra asks ascending humans to give the media up; to focus inward upon your path of ascension and karmic clearing with your ancestors; and to take your spare time out into nature. Nature is holding the new scripts for humanity through the new astrology for ascension. (Please see Ascension Insights, Volume 3 Chapter 19 “A New Astrology for A New Earth” for more information on the new astrology.) For ascending parents, we ask that you take the media away from your children. The media will only program your child with a mechanical dream and ultimately this will make them ill rather than allowing them to ascend into the next level of dream ahead. The mechanical dream will cause the DNA that they ascended into in the womb to dissipate; and they will experience a fall in consciousness; and the fall will be into diseased or discordant DNA.

This may be why some Indigo or Pale Indigo children are disturbed and then drugged at this time and are unable to focus; they have fallen and lost a portion of the DNA that they had brought in with them this lifetime. In removing the media and then intending a recasting with the ancestors and Earth, the DNA can be restored and will not be lost again. Then the ascending children can return to the purpose for which they entered the world, which was to ascend and carry on in the ascension, helping to anchor the new dream ahead.

Many adults, even those reading this book, have not given up the media. Perhaps one thinks “Oh the media is not really so bad”. “Oh, I cannot miss my favorite show, movie, book, magazine, etc.” “Oh, I cannot help but read so many websites”. For each book, show, movie, magazine, or website visited that are non-spiritual or non-metaphysical in nature, one loses chi, loses information, loses DNA, and more importantly than all of this, one loses love. How do you think those of high positions of wealth, power and fame have so much dream? Those of fame or fortune have dream because each watching them upon the media gives of one’s love and all the love attracts a larger dream. The lack of love of those who give of their love through the media then causes a listless and boring dream of life to manifest in which one feels unfulfilled and unhappy.

It will be very difficult for those choosing to open the heart and love and bless to retain the love if the media is still a major focus in one’s life. Love will dissipate more rapidly than it can be anchored. Journeys into nature in lieu of media focus will be different as Nature will bless you in return. The television, book, movie, magazine, and computer cannot bless in return. So, one’s blessings vaporize into those of fame and fortune, who only use the love to manifest more more more; more power, more dream, more money, and leaving the masses in deeper lack. This is the mirror of the economic crisis; the economy is in crisis as more dream flows to the ones of great wealth leaving the remaining with less overall.

The journey away from the media fear over the economy is to cease watching the media, and then focus upon opening the heart and learning to bless. Then bless one’s dream and one’s field and one's etheric body and one's body level dream. As the love flows from within, it will fill one's dreams with love. As one's dreams are filled with love, there will be enough to manifest upon the physical plane, as this is what love does. Love calls a dream that is loving to experience which will translate into enough; enough to pay the bills; enough to self heal of any affliction: enough to treat oneself to that which one desires; enough friends to enjoy one's time with and in a nurturing manner, and enough dream to move someplace that brings the body joy and perhaps closer to nature.
