Blessings of Freedom and Magic

The Butterfly and Moth Kingdoms

We of the Butterfly Kingdom have much to say to ascending humans today. We honor our channel or translator Asur'Ana who provides for us an opportunity to voice our truth. Butterfly and Moth hold the remembrance of biological transmutation. Our lives take us from birth from an egg into the form of a caterpillar. As we mature, in time we weave a second egg known as a cocoon and undergo a metamorphosis yet again from a multi-legged insect into a winged creature that takes flight. It is the winged creature that has the possibility of laying eggs in many more places, spawning yet new caterpillars where there were none before. This allows for the continuation of our species, even through the tough times such as Earth's ice ages in the past.

Genetic and Biochemical Transformation

Metamorphosis is symbolic of ascension both metaphorically and physically. Those who are ascending learn to dissolve the inside and outside of the form a little at a time and in small pockets known as "cocoon". Each pocket of tissue undergoing transmutation isolates itself, dissolves into a primal "goo" that simulates the birth of life as the ovum meets sperm, and then transmutes itself in a genetic and biochemical sense into the crystalline structure.

Genetic transformation occurs in many stages in ascension, and the same regions are transmuted again and again over time into yet again new biochemical systems in the journey to Full Consciousness. Asur'Ana and Per's form has had over 1.5 billion pockets cocooned over 18 times each throughout the body in their mastery of 36,000 segments of DNA and a crystalline form. One can see in this why biological ascension takes decades to fulfill upon, and why it is slow and painstaking in nature.

[One strand of DNA contains 3,000 segments of information. 12 DNA-(full tube) strands contain 36,000 segments.]

The Crystalline Structure

What does crystalline mean? The crystalline structure allows for one to become a living mineral that holds an increasingly higher vibration and larger energy field, and that can move energy in increasingly complex manners associated with mastery in ascension. The crystalline structure is filled with the mineral known as salt. The further that one ascends, the more complex the forms of salt are created in association with the Crystalline structure. Asur'Ana and Per have 18 forms of salt that prevail throughout their form and nervous system; each of the 18 salts hold a particular energy flow in their field necessary to their fully conscious state of being. Each salt also attunes them to a portion of the thoughtform known as the Language of Light and Language of ONE.

Perhaps if it were not for the remembrance of metamorphosis on the part of the Butterfly species, no form upon Earth could ascend at this time in history. Over time, Earth has lost her knowledge due to many falls in consciousness. Many of such falls occurred long before humanity arrived upon the scenes. With each fall, information fractured; this led to certain information expressed in only one or two species instead of all species global wide. Each species has retained a portion of the knowledge necessary to return to a state of wholeness again and ascend home. As each species remembered to share of its knowledge in the century past, a blueprint for ascension could emerge, because all of the information was present, but segmented and separated within varying forms.

Butterfly and moth are the only two creatures upon the land that retain the memory of biochemical transformation. There are also two creatures under the sea; each of these creatures is a small water snake that also cocoons itself becoming a fish in the second half of its life. Asur'Ana has no known name for this creature as her knowledge of the underwater kingdoms is sparse. However, the life of these two forms of underwater snake mimic the life of butterfly and moth upon the land. It is the information from these two snakes that is necessary to allow for biochemical transmutation and transformation for all other underwater species, including the fully conscious dolphin and whale species.

Holographic Knowledge

Over this past decade and as more whales, dolphins and humans became involved in the process of ascension, a more contiguous set of information has been constructed that is holographic in nature. Holographic knowledge is very different from the manner in which information had been stored for seemingly eons of time upon Earth. Holographic knowledge unites information into a whole system that is interrelated and interconnected to all other systems; in the interrelatedness and interconnectedness associated with holographic knowledge, all who attune to the holographic planes can know all things. As a result, an exponential shift upwards in understanding becomes possible as each kingdom ascends into holographic understanding in the half-century ahead.

This is also the same for humankind. Humans begin to access holographic knowledge at about 4,200 segments of DNA in mastery. The reason for this has to do with the opening of the heart chakra and the budding of the 1000-petal lotus of the Bodhisattva. The human hologram sits within the heart and spins allowing for holographic knowledge and communication. In order for this to occur, enough chi must be available to allow it to be restored within one's field; this requires more moving energy through the heart region than available in initiations beneath 4,200 segments.

However, those that master this level of evolution begin to open to holographic knowing. In so doing, the information available to oneself along with the understanding of all things understood by all species suddenly becomes available to bring to consciousness as one can understand it. (Please see Ascension Insights, Volume 4 Chapter 10 "Changes in the Ascending Energy Field in the Ascent to Bodhisattva" for more information on the anatomy of an ascending field.)

Languages Required to Interpret Holographic Knowing

Now here is the hitch to holographic knowing from the point of view of Butterfly; one must have the language to interpret the holographic information. The languages required to interpret holographic knowing are the Language of Light which are pastel shaded symbols that each species upon Earth is embracing at this time of ascension; and the Language of ONE which are gold and silver tones of creation that are photonic in vibration and emanate from the Great Central Sun. Please refer to Chapter 3 of Volume 1, Volume 2, and Volume 3 of the Ascension Insights series for more information on the Language of Light; and Chapter 3 of Volume 6, Volume 7, and Volume 8 of the Ascension Insights series for more information on the Language of ONE.

It requires continued biological ascension to master the entire scale of the Language of Light, which encompasses single, dual, tri and quad tones in nature. It requires the construction of a fully conscious nervous system that can capture photonic energy to understand the Language of ONE. Therefore, one's understanding of holographic knowledge is limited to the level of ascent one can master in any given lifetime.

Many may be confused as to what the levels of ascension mean. Earth is layered like an onion in vibratory bandwidths that range from the second to fourth dimension. Most at 2 segments of DNA sit in second dimensional bandwidths. Those emerging out of this plight at 1,024 segments of DNA begin to push upon 3rd dimensional bandwidths of thoughtform. In order to master 3rd dimensional thoughtform in full, one must also embody 6,000 segments of DNA in the physical; at 6000 one will sit fully in vibrational bandwidths associated with third dimensional thoughtform, which is Language of Light based. Language of Light thoughtform is unity-based, which translates into a unity-based structure for one's life expression as this level of ascension is mastered.

There are other resting points between second and third dimensional thoughtform such as 3,000 segments of DNA. Here folk attaining this level will experience a life that is between disunity and unity; however, it will be a far richer life expression as much of the unconscious has been integrated to this level of ascension that retains humanity in dogma. One might consider second dimensional thoughtform as dogmatic in nature, with extreme right and wrong as the foundation from which one operates. As one leaves the extremes behind, one moves to the middle ground where there is greater acceptance of self and all others. So, this occurs in the ascent to 3,000.

Mass Generational Ascension of Humanity

As one accepts others and self more greatly, there is less need to argue or war upon one another. Butterfly therefore perceives that as humanity en masse rises above this bottom threshold of 3,000 segments in vibration, that humanity shall also cease to war, and world peace shall become the human experience from this point forward. We see that humanity at large is on target to master this level of ascent en masse between 2030 and 2033. This is how the mass ascent of humanity shall bring forth civilization changes, allowing humans at large to transcend the patterning of war and disease that has plagued your civilization since the last fall of Atlantis about 10,000 Earth years ago (40,000 human years).

(NOTE: When we speak of Earth years, we speak of years as they are recorded by Mother Earth. Earth records time by solar revolutions or how long it takes your solar system to rotate around her twelfth-dimensional Sun. It takes approximately four revolutions of Earth around her Sun for your solar system to make one revolution around your twelfth-dimensional Sun. So, for reference, 50,000 Earth years is approximately 200,000 human years.)

How shall mass ascension occur? We see that adults shall master to whatever level that they can in this given life; and ascending children shall be born that shall anchor a new vibrational level for all to operate within. Humans match the vibration of others that they are surrounded by along with the vibration of the land and sea.

As the vibration of the land and sea rises, and humans are born at these new thresholds, all humans will rise in vibration with it. Some bodies will not be able to handle the rising vibrations and will die; others will be triggered to ascend themselves and live to witness the coming times of cleansing ahead. The ascending children by and large will weave the new level of thoughtform for the human civilization; as there are enough children holding one threshold, the next wave of children will come in at another new threshold yet higher. This shall carry on into the coming two centuries bridging humanity from second to fourth dimensional awareness and vibration through generational ascension.

This period of awakening ahead shall be the single shortest rise in consciousness that has ever been witnessed in any fully conscious species that has ever existed throughout time, space, and form. Those that have extended in of their consciousness to augment this shift have great knowledge and the understanding necessary to cause such. It is the intervention of the "Tao" as Asur'Ana calls it that makes generational ascension possible; the Tao is a force that sits outside of time, space and form and is the consciousness from which all emanates from and returns Home unto when the evolutionary cycle is complete.

The consciousness of the Tao is available to access through holographic knowing. Communication with the Tao however requires mastery of gold and silver or photonic thoughtform to understand. Those mastering full consciousness begin to anchor photonic thoughtform into the field; in so doing, such humans can work directly with the Tao to guide others, and to assist with global transformation necessary to augment the ascent of the whole. This is the role that Asur'Ana and Per play in the dance of life; there will be many more that emerge like them in the decades ahead, most of which shall be newborn fully conscious children. Newborn fully conscious children shall begin to emerge by 2030-2033 at the current rate of global ascension underway and in Butterfly's estimation.

Freedom and Magic

What does Butterfly wish to close with? Asur'Ana and Per have associated the appearance of butterflies or moths into their life experience with freedom and magic. Freedom is the result of karmic completion. Often, we remind Asur'Ana and Per to savor the freedom that they have earned in the completion of karma with all humans and the entire human dance; they have worked their way off the reincarnation cycles and have no further karmic debt. This is no small accomplishment in a single lifetime. Those mastering to 3,000 DNA segments and above have the capacity to clear all karma as well, working one's own way off the reincarnation cycles in this lifetime. We therefore remind each to intend completion and freedom from the karma and ties that bind.

One day, a small bird chased a butterfly in front of Asur'Ana. The butterfly was caught and eaten. This caused her to ponder "Who is trying to catch my freedom and take it from me?" As Asur'Ana worked upon the karma that she saw was present to clear in the unconscious, yet another bird chased another butterfly in front of her a week later. This time the butterfly got away. Asur'Ana knew in the manifestation of the second "mirror" in her life experience was a sign that she had succeeded at clearing her karma, and that freedom was going to be the result. And so, it has come to be.

In a recent walk in the summer of the spectacular Segla Mountain in Senja Island Norway, dancing butterflies of all colors surrounded Asur'Ana and Per; they knew that they were embodying freedom. Indeed, they have freed themselves of all holographic karma as of this autumn of 2021, and the butterflies mirrored this truth unto each.

Moth has represented magic unto Asur'Ana and Per. Magic is an ability to weave a dream that gives one joy and fulfillment in the life experience. Magic can be seen as the threads of the web of one's dream. If one has no magic, one has no ability to weave the web to catch one's dream and anchor it into the physical. Often moth has reminded Asur'Ana to retrieve her magic that was taken in karmic encounters upon the physical plane. As she has retrieved her magic, then Asur'Ana has had the ability to weave the dream necessary to fulfill upon her soul's purpose in this lifetime. Therefore, moth reminds each to retrieve their magic and dream-weaving knowledge in one's continued ascent.

As we cross your path, attune unto us for a special message about your personal ascension and life journey. Attune unto us through the heart chakra and human hologram. All species can be accessed directly through the hologram as one ascends to 4,200 DNA segments and beyond. The hologram spins, and each rate of spin attunes to a different kingdom, the faster the spin the larger the kingdom. The most rapid spin attunes to the consciousness of Earth as a whole.

We hope that all humans will enter holographic knowing in due course and be capable of communion and communication with all other species. In so doing, humanity shall leave a state of separation behind and enter the kingdom of heaven upon Earth.

Book's Introduction

This book offers a series of articles from the consciousness of the little creatures that cross our paths as ascending humans. These short inspirational messages draw attention to the small critters that serve as mirrors for one's transcendence. Everything one attracts into one's life expression is a mirror; this includes the ants, bees, butterflies, frogs, lizards and so on that cross our path. As one learns to attune to the consciousness of such tiny creatures, one will discover a wealth of advice and assistance offered surrounding one's choice to ascend. Therefore, this information is offered up for initiates to read as such critters show up in one's life experience for whatever they have to teach us as ascending beings, or for whatever they have to mirror unto us about our own internal state of being.

Blessings of Love and Joy!

Namaste,

Asur'Ana and Per
