- Beer Don't Care

Fresh off their #1 debut SMASH single Beer Don't Care their sound and song became a summer time anthem for fun and good times! It went straight to #1 on T3R, Texas regional radio and top 5 on CDX. With it's catchy dance beat and sing along chorus it wasn't long before it was all over the Red Dirt airwaves. It quickly became a favorite most requested song around the Lone Star State.

- Guitar in My Hand

"Guitar in My Hand is already Top 30 and climbing. It embodies TiLLuRidE's gritty, passionate, and unapologetically country sound. Driven by explosive guitar riffs and stadium-ready hooks, the track is both a nod to the band's roots and a bold leap forward in their evolution. It's a song made for open highways, packed venues, and every dreamer holding on to what fuels them."

"This electrifying track embodies the grit and authenticity of country rock while delivering an undeniably infectious hook."

"A driving, guitar-fueled anthem that captures the spirit of resilience, passion, and life on the open road."

Their debut EP release is scheduled for early Oct. Look for pre-save link in bio.

Raves

Besides performing, they love giving back and supporting the communities in the Lone Star State whenever they can. They were among the first to play a benefit concert at Greune Grove to raise money for the flood victims and their families.

They have also done benefit concerts to help promote awareness about mental health among military members.

They are true SONS Of TEXAS and will do anything to support the LONESTAR STATE. They also love sharing the stage with fellow Texas artist, both Superstars as well as new up and coming break through artist.

HOUSTON – The country rock band, TiLLuRidE, consists of 6 members: Ron “Ronimal” Forest, Jeff “Jeffrey” Hunt, David “Dave” Cadriel, Christopher “Deuce” Jacko, Jesse “Low End” Ortiz, and Johnny Ray Blackwell.

They are using their unique sound to promote awareness about mental health among military members.

“It’s a poem that I wrote 18-plus years ago and brought it to the guys in the band, and we composed it into an actual song,” said drummer Ron “Ronimal” Forest.

Half of the band has served in the military, and the guys acknowledge how difficult it can be to reacclimate to civilian life. “The struggle is as real at home as it is on the battlefield,” said lead singer David “Dave” Cadriel.

“If you’re lonely and you need help, we’ll help you. We’ll help you, we’ll guide you, and we’ll get you in the right direction,” Forest said.

“Once you see TiLLuRidE live you’re hooked. Every show feels like an arena concert no matter where they play.”

“The energy they bring to the stage makes you feel like you’re part of the band.”

“TiLLuRidE doesn’t just perform. They throw a party that you never want to end.”

About

TiLLuRidE is a modern, hard-hitting Red Dirt Country band that originated 3 years ago in Montgomery, Texas, and is now based out of Houston. Known for their high-energy performances and a true passion for live music, TiLLuRidE delivers a powerhouse show every time they take the stage.

Blending country roots with gritty rock influences, their sound ranges from raw, emotional storytelling to explosive, adrenaline-pumping anthems that leave crowds wanting more. Drawing inspiration from artists like Jason Aldean, Luke Combs, Jelly Roll, Chris Young, and Hardy as well as elements of rock, rhythm and blues, zydeco, Tejano and 90's country. TiLLuRidE is carving a bold, new path in country music.

1 year ago, the band joined forces with Nashville hitmaker Anthony Smith, known for writing hits for artists like Chris Young and many others. Anthony, now TiLLuRidE's manager, co-wrote Beer Don't Care for the band and continues to collaborate with them on their latest single release Guitar In My Hand helping bring out the best version of TiLLuRidE yet.

We invite you to come along for the ride, experience the movement, and become a TiLLuRidEr, because this is more than music... it's a country red dirt revolution.
