FOREWORD

When we started BOLDNET in July 2020, I initially was a bit cautious anticipating the amount of work that was to be done because of the field we had chosen to work on – Youth Development, its such a VAST sea encompassing multiple aspects to be taken care of in the developmental journey of young buddies.

However, I was sure that as we move on, Buddies themselves would take on the driver's seat and steer this gigantic task. It gives me immense satisfaction that Buddies have already taken up the responsibility and are steering their developmental journey not only individually but also as a group.

Launch of this BOLDNET newsletter is definitely one important milestone because, not only it creatively communicates the happenings @ BOLDNET but also reflects how buddies are enjoying and benefiting from their very own platform. Hence the name Buddy Beats perfectly echoes the spirit of this newsletter.

Kudos to the LT of JFM Vaishnavi, Pranjal and Alisha to have taken immense efforts in last few days to make the first Buddy Beats.

Cheers to all buddies who contributed with their creative brains during the BOLDNET journey and even for this newsletter.

I am excited at the possibilities that lie in future for all of us..

Cheers .. lets build our community that will rebuild our nation to its Past Glory.

- your buddy
Coach Avinash

NOTE FROM THE PRESIDENT...

Its been 18 months since BOLDNET started its first official meeting. And today the wheels are running smoothly.

In a society where learning and education is highly structured, BOLDNET offers an open platform to learn. Yes, I will not end that sentence with an object after verb because we believe learning should be limitless and learning happen the most when we engage all our senses – auditory, visual and kinaesthetic.

In BOLDNET we learn what it truly means to be responsible, to take control of our life, to be accountable and to be a leader. This platform gives its buddies the space to grow, develop and sculpt themselves in their best versions. The Sunday meetings are an opportunity to dive into leadership roles and hone our skills.

This newsletter – marks the beginning of one more initiative of recording and narrating regularly - of how we all grew in the past 1.5 years in 79 meetings and are still growing. I'm extremely glad to present our first monthly newsletter. This shows our buddies dedication towards their development. This newsletter will help them to assess their growth and will serve as a yardstick to see how far they have come.

The purpose of keeping it monthly is to closely review the goals, control and rectify the action plan designed to achieve that goal. This also aligns with our concept of theme of the month which is discussed further. We have implemented this theme through various ways such as presentations, guest sessions and activity sessions within the framework of our meetings.

NOTE FROM THE PRESIDENT...

Every Sunday our buddies strive to crunch the most out of those two hours and we coordinators oversee that every buddy learns something new on a Sunday morning.

This is certainly possible because of the faith shown in us by our parents and the honourable guests who have spared their valuable time for us and shared with us their rich knowledge. We at BOLDNET are abundantly grateful for them all.

Further as the President of this chapter I assure you that I will continue giving my best and serving for the betterment of the buddies. I am grateful to BOLDNET for giving me this opportunity to assess myself and grow whilst being backed by its continuous support.

When we ardently want to learn, the universe aligns all the resources for the person with such unwavering determination, and to the universe I'm grateful.

Theme of the Month

When dreams have a date they become goals. And goals are always time bound and focused. Hence to have a focused view, we have brought forward the concept of “theme of the month.”

Here we choose a skill or topic and try to cover it from all perspectives to truly inculcate or understand it. Therefore our presentations, activities and guest sessions revolve around this theme for the entire month.

The theme for January was THINKING SKILLS

Hence in January we dived into the world of HOWs and WHYs, deep into the workings of the topics we chose..

Are you wondering – exactly how did we do it?
Then c’mon lets take a look....

Learnings

- 1) Be Solution oriented
- 2) We should be aware of our Surroundings.
- 3) Be alert and observant
- 4) Focus on critical thinking and Brainstorming.
- 5) Contribution is important let it be small or big.

- Ashutosh Vast

JAN WRAP UP

BOLDNET brings with it a fresh experience through every meeting - with confident and responsible voices, with depth in words, with the air filled with a want to learn more, with faces lit up with bright smiles and with the energetic enthusiasm of all BOLDNET buddies! And there couldn't have been a better start to a new year than seeing this zest of our fellow friends.

2nd January was the first Sunday of the new tenure of JFM 2022. It began with the buddies reflecting on which qualities and skills they acquired last year and which ones they are willing to improve in this year, followed by the new Leadership Team stating out their goals and agenda for the coming three months.

Every tenure is an opportunity to rectify the earlier mistakes and to keep polishing those leadership skills. Hence it is crucial to set goals and to keep moving forward.

Our BOLDNET family grew this month with new buddy inductions of Arya Dravid, Shloka Bhat and Agastya Bhat.

Learnings

1. Confidence is the key to presentation
2. We should do smart work instead of hard work
3. We must be able to understand the difference between good and bad peer pressure

- Shhloka Bhat

continued...

The month was filled with innovative 5 minute presentations which were made to weave around the theme Thinking Skills, covering subjects from pooled funds to plane engines to Indian inventors and many more.

Self-reflective introductions, delivered more confidently each time, were encompassed in themes like resonance to proverbs and to the Sun or the Moon on the occasion of Makar Sankranti, etc.

Enthralling activities like I've Got the Answer, Reverse Brainstorming, Impromptu Talks, pushed us to don our thinking caps, come up with creative solutions, and express our opinions coherently and convincingly against the stipulated time

The enriching guest sessions that added knowledge by pound in our growing minds. The guest speakers conducted interactive sessions with the buddies which kept everyone engaged, percolating the wise words thoroughly.

The New Year and the new tenure definitely kicked off well for the BOLDNET buddies, the first month itself being highly productive!

We look forward to such varied experiences throughout the year as well!

--X--

Learnings

1. Be a good team player
2. Try to find an innovative way out
3. Realize your own capacity and don't doubt it
4. Solution oriented approach should always be there

- Tanmaya Pandit

GUEST SPEAKERS

Mr Aman Joshi

An enlightening session on Conflict Management and Creative Problem Solving by guest speaker Mr. Aman Joshi

- who highlighted the importance of effective crisis management and understanding the root of our problems.
- He made us realise that all conflicts are not bad, rather, conflict is sometimes necessary for increasing productivity.
- We all experienced an epiphany when he pointed out that conflicts are an opportunity to trigger our creative minds for coming up with creative solutions.

Abhay: An amazingly insightful session! Creative problem solving and conflict management was never better understood!

Alisha: Absolutely! The different types of conflicts and what causes them was quite relatable!

Aadit: Yes it was! And also how critical it is to understand the cause and potential outcome of a conflict.

Tanmaya: Perspectives of looking at conflict matters a lot.! Accordingly skillful problem solving can be done

Neel: True! It is also necessary to identify the root cause of the conflict by taking everyone's equal opinion

GUEST SPEAKERS

Abhishek: And not to forget – conflicts aren't always negative!

Abhay: A really good point! We must learn to ACCEPT conflicts, it can result into you being more calm and stable

Pranjal: Like Aman Sir said – we must be an 'Angel's advocate' and support our side through the plus points

Moksh: Right!
Also, sometimes to come to an agreeable level, both parties have to compensate certain likes and dislikes for the greater good -so that the conflict ends

A wonderful experience for sure!

Learnings

1. Innovation is the key to solution
2. Change you prospective time to time because it will be easy to solve the problem
3. Spontaneous speech is very important to develop thinking in speaking skills
4. Be more perspective-focussed and detailed while talking

-Sheyas Bharadwaj

Learnings

1. Sometimes just by imagining the situation at its worst will be helpful to solve it quickly.
2. Confidence and research must be there while expressing our views on particular topic.
3. Clarity of thought is one an important aspect while standing by our point.

-Nikita Adari

GUEST SPEAKERS

Mr Uday Tickoo

The month ended with a guest session by Mr Uday Tickoo on Financial Literacy and Where We Stand where

- he emphasised the significance of our behaviour and mindset towards money and how it can minutely affect our financial decisions.
- He explained the 5M framework which talked about money mindset, money making, money managing, money multiplying, and money minding.
- Sir's style of explaining was definitely very educational, diverse, informative, detailed and painted with humour.
- He gave day-to-day examples which made complex economic terms easier to understand, leaving us wiser and more aware.

Om: What a meeting! Financial literacy is an 'instruction manual' for using money wisely, we should find a financial goal first, a way to achieve it and then reach it.

Vaishnavi: Agreed! We must give money the respect it deserves and have a positive mindset towards it.

Agastya: I got a clear perspective of 'Perseverance over Subsistence' and we can do that by developing our own physical habits of segregating money

GUEST SPEAKERS

Varad: Yes! Segregation of finances is necessary to keep proper tabs on it

Ashutosh: Uday sir rightly elaborated how we should first Save then Invest and then Spend

Shreyas: And also how to become wealthier rather than richer by following the '5M-framework

Sarthak: The difference between Assets and Liabilities became clear to me- we should be very clear what we actually want to achieve and spend wisely

Swarangi: Right! Today I also experienced how even complicated concepts can be explained with a subtle tinge of humour if a different perspective is given to it.

Learnings

1. Have basic knowledge of all fields
2. Boldnet gives me different experiences to know my communication skills

-Sarthak Chavan

Learnings

1. We should always look at a problem from many different points.
2. Research must be thorough.

Manas's Blog

So guys i am back! I know you guys are not going to read this all but the topic on which I am going to talk today is all about you!. I know everyone is facing some or the other problem in their lives. Everyone is getting tested every day right from anyone's judgement , betrayal , hard luck etc.. Crying silently in the bed before sleep or crying during showerahhh these things we all have done! We dont share things to anyone because of fear of judgement from your friends, randoms etc.....what the problem is you kill yourself just to maintain the image of yourself. So what do you think who' s fault is this? ... the finger comes to you.....solution is....be brave and take out yourself out of your comfort zone. Let the perfect image of yourself be broken . It wont protect your inner self you have to reach out to people . Let them know what's your problem ...let them judge ...what if they judge? ...its fine if they do you are not born to impress everyone. Yes! If you master this...i bet you will get a cheerful and broad smile on your damn face. That's what life is! So come on get up and hit the surface and move on..!

Sanika's Blog

REMEMBER THIS WHEN YOU'RE SAD...

Other people's negativity isn't your problem!! Pain is a part of growing up as a person. Every little struggle is a step forward to your huge success ahead! Everything is temporary. There's always day after night. Remember, no one is perfect in this universe. We're all perfectly imperfect. It's never too late to go after what you want. Where there is will there's way! The best thing you can do is, keep going! Look at the trees, they don't stop blooming after leafage.

Everything we do depends on our mindset. Sadness, darkness are all stages of our life. Which make us even stronger! If you fail once no worries man.. life is all about a second chance. And they say nah.. RUN AFTER EXCELLENCE, SUCCESS WILL SURELY FIND YOUR WAY!!

MIGHT OF INDIA'S UNITY

India, a country of over 1.3B people from all castes, religions, race etc. but what holds all the people together is the emotion of unity and patriotism. We Indians, have been united in the worst conditions to the best, right from the Partition to the Covid - 19 pandemic, whenever it was the question of the nation's safety, Indians have always seen its best interest. India was divided into pieces like a broken glass after the partition, there were hundreds of princely states and 1 foreign colony that had to be integrated together to Union of India after 1947. This tedious task was successfully carried out by the mastermind, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel. Sardar Patel integrated important princely states like Hyderabad and Junagadh to the Union. Had Sardar Patel not been there, today we would've required a visa while travelling in almost all states of the country. To honor the legacy of this great man, with the initiative of Hon. PM a statue of Sardar was made on the River Narmada which is the biggest statue of the world - that is; The Statue of Unity;. In this post I will be writing about my experience at the Statue of Unity in Kevadia, Gujarat. A little background about the statue - The Statue of Unity is a 182ft high statue of Sardar Vallabhabhai Patel on the Sadhu Bet in the river Narmada, bounded by the Vidhyanchal and Satpuras on its either side. It is in the Narmada District, 70kms away from Vadodara in Gujarat. I had visited the statue on 9th November 2021. The statue is easily accessible by road from Ahemdabad and Vadodara, however Vadodara is more convenient. Rail services direct to Kevadia are also available from major cities of Gujarat. All in all the experience at Kevadia was memorable and unforgettable, I was filled with patriotism, a new energy and positivity that will remain with me for the rest of life. And now if anyone asks me about the might of India's unity I will say that it is 182m high and is in the heart of all 1.3B Indians.

जर Sunday ला कुठे जायचा प्लॅन ठरत असेल तरी त्याच्या कडून पहिले उत्तर हे असतं की " 9:30 नंतर ठरवा, माझी मीटिंग मला महत्त्वाची आहे..." अजिबात तो ती मिस करायला तयार नसतो... म्हणुन चांगला Path मिळालाय.. Thank you

I'm really proud की मी Aadit ला BOLDNET मध्ये घातले, आधी तो Sunday mornings ला उठायला अजिबात तयार नसायचा पण जसे एक दोन Sundays झाले , तो एका हाके मध्ये किंवा स्वतःच अलार्म लाऊन उठतो कारण जेव्हा त्याला स्वतःहून एखादी गोष्ट आवडते तेव्हा तो ती आवडीने करतो हे दिसून येते..

I would like to thank Avinash sir. And today's activity that you conducted was really amazing, because we all are there together always at home, but it never happens that we appraise our child or tell them their strengths. Through this activity we could express how we feel about them, how proud we are, how they are our loved ones and all the strengths that they have..

मुलांना express होयला मिळतंय,
अजून लोकांना भेटायला बघायला मिळतंय हे खूप महत्त्वाचा ठरलंय.

मुलं presentation देतायत, त्यासाठी जी तयारी करतायत ते पण खूप कौतुकास्पद आहे!
त्याच्यामुळे त्यांचा knowledge आणि अभ्यास पण वाढतोय.

बोलायचं skill लहान वयापासूनच वाढलं तर मुलांचा नक्कीच confidence boost up होणार
