Southern Resonance Roots Festival Returns to Heist Brewery and Barrel Arts on September 13, 2026

CHARLOTTE, NC — The second annual Southern Resonance Roots Festival is set to take over Heist Brewery and Barrel Arts at 1030 Woodward Avenue in Charlotte, NC this September 13th. Brought to you by Bojangles' and the Charlotte Blues Society, this year's celebration of American Blues and Roots music features six incredible bands from across the Carolinas in an immersive, two-part festival experience.

Part 1 - Southern Resonance Roots: Showcase On The Lawn • FREE (12:30 PM – 5:30 PM)

Spend your afternoon soaking up the sun and dancing on the lawn to five back-to-back sets of soulful, toe-tapping music from regional standouts on the outdoor stage. The lawn will be a vibrant hub of activity, featuring the Bojangles' mascot, a curated lineup of local vendors, festival merchandise, and raffles. Whether you're here for the music or the artisan market, the daytime program is designed for everyone—kids and pets are welcome. (Please bring your own chair).

Please visit SRRF '26 On the Lawn for the showcase schedule, music samples, and more information about the event on the lawn.

Part 2 - Southern Resonance Roots: In The Skyline Room • Tickets required (6:30 – 8 PM)

As the sun goes down, the energy goes up. The festival moves indoors to the Skyline Room for an exclusive, ticketed headliner show featuring the incredible Selwyn Birchwood. Known for his high-octane blend of blues, swamp boogie funk, and psychedelic rock, Birchwood delivers a performance that demands to be experienced live. Advance tickets $17.50, $25 at the door.
