

Roger Nielson

Roger Nielsen attended the Art Institute of Chicago. He opened Nielsen Studio, an art gallery and frame shop in Minneapolis in the early '60s where he sold his art as well as other local artists. As a framer, he developed a national reputation and taught classes to his peers in frame history and design, as well as sharing his expertise in gilding and frame restoration. He recently retired from Master Framers Inc. of St. Paul to revive his love for producing his own art.
