

Bob Pollard

A self-taught artist, Bob's work is influenced by the poetic abstraction of Georgia O'Keeffe, the bold line work of Betsy Bowen, and the North Woods flavor of the works of Liz Sivertson. He has been creating art in various mediums since he was a child, though these days he works primarily with acrylics and, having been in commercial printing for many years, linoleum and wood block printing, which he also teaches to those willing to learn it. Bob believes that art is an adventure and strives to inspire other artists, beginners to veterans, to approach it boldly and never be afraid to try something new or unusual.