Happy March!

Saturday, March 21 is National Quilting Day!

How will you celebrate?

- Spend all day quilting or stitching with your favorite music on and the window open to allow Spring breezes in?
- Go out for coffee or lunch with your quilting friend?
- Call up a new member of the guild and wish them Happy Quilting Day?
- Write a note to a quilting friend that you haven't seen for a while?
- Packing for the QGSC retreat, writing your name on all of your supplies, and gathering leftover fabrics to add to the "sandbox"?

But before we get to that special day, I am looking forward to gathering at our March evening and day meetings to learn from our excellent guild teachers; Brandi Shockley and Candy Shively. See page 5 for all the details. They are generous in sharing their passion, knowledge and expertise. Thank you both!

Speaking of gratitude, the Fayetteville 911 dispatchers sent a thank-you note to the guild with 20 names signed expressing their appreciation for the twenty-two quilts that were sewn for them. As the note was passed around the day meeting, from hand to hand, I was reminded about how many hands it took to make these quilts; piecing each crumb, adding sashing, quilting, and binding.

SOOOO many hands and hours for this community service project. See page 11 for the article written in The Citizen about this project.

This is just one example of the many hands that it takes to make this Quilt Guild be a wonderful group! Behind the scenes work is what makes this guild and each of our meetings come to life. Thank You ALL! And if you would like to add your hands to making QGSC a great group to be part of, let me know and we can find a place for you.

Some of our fellow quilters attended Quilt Con last week. Can't wait to hear their stories and what has inspired them. If you are not familiar with this exhibition, it is the premiere annual event for modern quilting organized by the Modern Quilt Guild. I don't consider myself a modern quilter, but when I went to this show in Atlanta in 2023, I was so inspired.

Guess What? Quilt Con will be in ATLANTA in 2027.

Mark your calendars for February 25-28, 2027 if you are thinking about attending.

As the beautiful Spring days become warmer, do you find yourself in a dilemma of wanting to be outside, but also wanting to sew? Me too. I pull out the EPP project I am working on and find a comfy place on the patio.

Keep on stitching!! Karen

THURSDAY NIGHT MEETINGS!!Lisa Dempsey

We invite you to join us for our Thursday night meetings! The evening Quilters Guild of the Southern Crescent is in formation. Out of your expressed interest, we are building a community where working and/or interested art quilters can find skill building events, guest speakers, and guided conversations around modern quilting that will provide a community of like-minded folk who love needle arts of all kinds.

Thinking about spreading your wings?

Our recent guest, Kris Vierra, certainly challenged us to think broader! Most of all, she left me with a sure conviction that I have been stalled in my long arm skills pursuit. Accepting that I was afraid to put needle to fabric, trusting that it is only ruined if I leave it in a pile of other unfinished projects!

So - where do you want to grow? What do you want to learn? What do you want to try next?

This coming month our own talented guild members, Brandi Shockley will be teaching us how to Photograph Our Quilts in our Thursday (Mar 12) evening gathering and Friday (Mar 13) daytime with Candy Shively, who will be breaking barriers in how to pursue putting your work in Quilts shows.

I recently found a wonderful article in Create Whimsey, an online monthly survey of various artists, sewists and creatives. It hit right where our guild is seeking to point us. Our theme, "Spread Your Wings", is just beginning to take action in my sewing life.

Take this to heart: you are an amazing group of folks who have so many skills and talents that you can share with each other! Not only are we all learners, but we are discoverers too! I wonder, what will we learn this year as we spread our wings? I hope you will be inspired by Nikki May's words.

"I thought talent had to be perfect before it deserved space. I waited for permission that was never coming. I'd tell her you don't become confident before you share your work. You become confident because you share it. Put the messy thing out. Apply before you feel ready. Let people see you trying. The world doesn't need another talented person hiding in the wings." Excerpt from Create Whimsey, Nikki May

"The In's and Out's of Exhibit Quilting" presented by Candy Shively.

Candy has been exhibiting art quilts off and on since 1993 and continuously since 2017. She currently has an exhibit at the Peachtree City Library that ends March 7.

Her upcoming exhibits include ArtFields in Lake City, SC April 10-May 2 (<https://www.artfieldssc.org/festival/>),

"Conceptual Threads" at the Coastal Discovery Museum in Hilton Head mid-May-end of June, and Two traveling SAQA exhibits at multiple venues in FL/GA/SC and Pennsylvania through the end of 2027.

The FL/GA/SC exhibit, entitled TRiO, will be at the Southeastern Quilt and Textile Museum in Carrollton in spring/summer 2027.

"Build Up" at the Art Quilt Elements exhibit in the Philadelphia area ~ Candace Hackett Shively (Candy).

Upcoming Programs and Workshops

Candy wants everyone to know that showing/exhibiting quilts is not scary or limited to only "certain" people. Come and hear about how exhibiting works and how (and why) YOU could get started.

Come and learn about:

- Types of exhibits
- Picking an exhibit that you want to be associated with
- What a juried quilt show is
- Identifying the audience you want to appeal to

Candy will bring information on her engagement as a member with Studio Art Quilt Associates. Just think: new directions for your creativity and "Think Spread Your Wings" in 2026!!

Candy will be hosting a reception at the Peachtree City Library on Saturday, Feb. 28 from 3-5, should you like to view some of her quilts and ask questions.

BETWEEN THE SEAMS BOOK CLUB

Deb Sweeney

Our book club meets on the third Tuesday of each month from 12 noon to 2 pm at Evergreen Church.

Bring your lunch and let's discuss books, have fun, and enjoy each other's company. All are welcome, even if you haven't finished the book! It's a great way to get to know your fellow quilters in a relaxed and comfortable setting.

Our next reads

- March 17: "Isola" by Allegra Goodman.
- April 21: "The Correspondent "by Virginia Evans.

SUNSHINE AND SHADOWS

Joann Gorrell

Whenever a guild member informs me that a card is needed, I make sure to send one on behalf of our guild. To respect everyone's privacy, I do not announce who the recipient is or the reason for the card—sharing that information with the general membership remains the individual's choice. If you are unsure whether I have been notified, please go ahead and send me your request. It is always better to receive multiple notifications than to miss someone in need of our support.

LIBRARY

David Scott

The guild has a wonderful library of resources to support your quilting projects. Explore the library and discover ideas for a new technique and inspiration for your next project.

MONTHLY MINI

Mayra Diaz

The monthly mini for February was won by Tammy Walker. We had 41 members participating and sold 4 more tickets.

This small wallet will be the March monthly mini at the day meeting.

We still have openings for coming months.

Without donations there is no monthly mini for that month!!!

2026-27 RAFFLE/OPPORTUNITY QUILT

Jenny Hynes

To help fund our upcoming programs and projects, QGSC is planning a raffle/opportunity quilt. All guild members may volunteer to make blocks, complete the quilt, and/or sell tickets. If you are interested in joining the team for this project, please contact Jenny Hynes. Contact information on page 17.

This is a wonderful opportunity to get involved in the guild and perhaps meet other members that might be outside your normal circle of friends. Perhaps a new friend is out there waiting to be discovered!

COMMUNITY SERVICE – THE CITIZEN

This is a copy of an article that recently appeared in The Citizen. Great job QGSC spreading quilting joy in the community!

Fayette County, GA — The Quilters Guild of the Southern Crescent (QGSC) presented 22 handcrafted quilts to the Fayette County 911 Communications Center, honoring emergency dispatchers whose behind-the-scenes work is essential to public safety. The year-long project brought together more than 30 guild members, each contributing time, skill, and creativity to produce quilts that reflect the dispatchers' signature color: sunflower gold.

The idea for the project began a year ago when Teri Biglands, the guild's former president, learned from Frank Mercer of 4 Our Heroes about the emotional toll and lack of recognition often experienced by emergency dispatch operators.

"Teri was so touched by the stories of dispatchers doing all this hard work and receiving so little acknowledgement," said Karen Shelnut, President of the Quilters Guild of the Southern Crescent, who has been with the guild for five years. "After Frank spoke with us last January, we decided we wanted to honor them in a meaningful way. We understood their color was sunflower gold, so we incorporated that into every quilt."

A Year of Craftsmanship and Community Effort

The quilts were created using a distinctive design made of "crumb blocks," small pieces of leftover fabric stitched together to form colorful, textured patterns. Each quilt features sunflower-gold sashing and matching binding, creating a cohesive look across all 22 pieces under the coordination of Laura Wheeler, Community Services leader.

"It took a village," Shelnut said. "Some people worked for days, others contributed smaller pieces of time, but in total, 30 to 40 members had a hand in this project. Many hands went into these quilts, and they are beautiful."

Each quilt is constructed as a traditional "quilt sandwich," with a pieced top, a cotton-polyester batting layer, and a backing fabric, all quilted together by skilled members of the guild.

"Our hope is that the dispatchers feel acknowledged and appreciated for all of their incredible work," Shelnut added.

A Meaningful Gift for an Essential Team

The Fayette County 911 expressed deep gratitude for the heartfelt gesture.

"We are incredibly grateful to the Quilters Guild of the Southern Crescent for adopting our 911 center as one of their service projects," said Katy Vogt, Director of Fayette County 911 Communications. "The sheer generosity behind this gift, along with the time, skill, and care that went into creating so many quilts, left us truly in awe. In a profession that can be demanding and emotionally heavy, this thoughtful act of kindness is a powerful reminder that our community deeply values the work our staff does every day."

About the Quilters Guild of the Southern Crescent

Founded in 1998, the Quilters Guild of the Southern Crescent is celebrating more than 25 years of quilting, friendship, and community service. With approximately 100 members ranging from beginners to award-winning quilters, QGSC is dedicated to preserving and appreciating the art of quilting. The guild regularly supports local organizations through quilt-making service projects and welcomes new members of all skill levels. More information is available at qgscquilters.com.

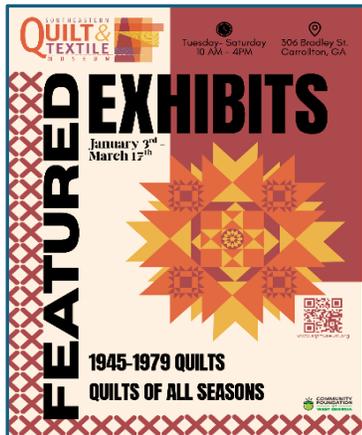

About Fayette County 911 Communications

Fayette County 911 Communications serves as the vital link between the public and public safety agencies. The center is committed to communicating essential information efficiently and effectively to protect the welfare of all residents and visitors.

Out and About in the Quilting World

Two New Exhibits Open at the Southeastern Quilt and Textile Museum

The Southeastern Quilt and Textile Museum (SQTM) is pleased to announce the opening of two new exhibits on view through March 17, 2026.

Quilting Trends: 1945–1979 explores changing trends in American quilting from the end of World War II through the resurgence of the craft in the late 1970s. The exhibit highlights the evolution of styles, colors, and fabrics over three transformative decades. Early quilts reflect themes and palettes inspired by the postwar period, while quilts from the 1950s introduce new patterns and fresh color combinations. By the 1960s and 1970s, quilters pushed creative boundaries, experimenting with bold colors, unconventional fabrics, and expressive designs.

Quilts for All Seasons offers a lighthearted and visually engaging experience for visitors of all ages. Featuring holiday-themed quilts by artists Jill Christie and Cynthia Hilliard, the exhibit celebrates the changing seasons with cheerful imagery including hearts, pumpkins, Christmas trees, and more.
