A course for Teachers and Middle Leaders

Programme Outcomes

The course will be in a portfolio format, where the subscriber builds a portfolio of evidence and reflections and can use them in their work after the course. For certification, the portfolio will have to be submitted and reviewed by the course mentor.

By the end of this programme, you will:

- Be familiar with the main AI platforms available to teachers:
 - Notebook LM
 - Gemini
 - Chat GPT
 - Co-pilot
- Be familiar with the major use cases for AI in your classroom:
 - Generating materials
 - Marking and grading
 - Pupil use
- Be familiar with how to use AI safely in a classroom setting.
- Be comfortable managing pupil engagement with AI both for homework and classwork.

Each month, there will be:

- An introductory video highlighting key research and strategies, which you will be able to watch at your leisure.
- Independent teacher tasks to help hone your practice and environment.
- A live online session where we will provide feedback on our tasks and build a community.

You will always have access to your nominated mentor:

Chris Scorer, Director of Education and Lead Consultant - chris.scorer@korueducation.uk

FAQs

Question	Answer
Who is it for?	Teachers, middle leaders or anyone still managing teachers directly.
What is the time commitment?	The total time each month will vary, but is expected to be around 3-4 hours split over the three parts of the course: watching and responding to the initial video, completing the independent tasks and attending the one-hour live session.
What will I be expected to do?	You will be invited to engage with the course materials and the community of teachers taking the course throughout the training. Each month, there will be independent tasks to complete and your mentor, Chris, will be there to help and assist if needed. You will also be required to keep a portfolio of work and submit the portfolio of work after the end of the course.
What will my mentor's role be?	Chris' role is to facilitate your engagement in the course. He will be available to clarify anything, provide all the course materials and videos and will host the online sessions each month.
What is the timeline of materials each month?	Each month, the new materials will be posted on the first working day. You will have access to both the introductory video, which you will be able to watch at your leisure and will continue to be available until the end of the course, and independent teacher tasks. The live session will be held on the last Wednesday of the month.
When will I start?	The course starts in January, and all the materials will be available from January 5th. Each month, the new materials will be posted on the first working day of the month. Please reach out to us by booking a discovery call if you have missed the start date but are interested.
When will I finish?	The course runs until the end of May 2026.
