WHO WE ARE

“This platform was built by the operator who led the units that fed and consumed the operational picture — across combatant commands, in space, cyber, and satellite domains, and in combat. The requirement is understood from the inside.”

Blue Ocean Trace, LLC delivers a purpose-built maritime Common Operational Picture platform to government agencies and commercial maritime operators. The system is designed to be source agnostic — ingesting position and track data from any available feed, fusing it with behavioral analytics and automated threat detection into a single operational environment. Built on the same situational awareness principles used to support combatant commanders across over 30 years of joint operations, Blue Ocean Trace was designed for the mission — not adapted from a commercial tool.
