REFLECTIONS FROM FR. MATTHEW

“Repent....and Become Fruitful”

As we move into the third week of the Season of Lent, our Sunday Gospel prepares us to hear Lent's call to conversion and repentance. Today's reading is found in the chapters of Luke's Gospel that describe Jesus' journey to Jerusalem.

Luke tells us that some among the crowd report to Jesus a massacre of Galileans by Pilate. The intention of the crowd seems to be to ask Jesus to explain why these people suffered. It was commonplace to render people's suffering as evidence of their sinfulness. Jesus challenges this interpretation. Those who were massacred were no more or less sinful than the ones who report the situation to Jesus. Jesus replies that even a fatal accident, a natural disaster, ought not to be interpreted as punishment for sin.

Jesus' words at first appear to be harsh. Jesus says in essence, “Repent or perish as these people did; all are sinful before God and deserving of God's punishment.” The tone changes, however, in the parable that follows. The parable of the barren fig tree contrasts the patience and hopefulness of the gardener. Throughout his journey to Jerusalem, Jesus has been teaching about the Kingdom of God. In this parable, we find an image of God's patience and hopefulness as he prepares his Kingdom. God calls us to repent, and it is within his power to punish us for our failure to turn from our sinfulness. And yet God is merciful. He delays punishment and tends to us so that we may yet bear the fruit he desires from us. When told to cut down the fig tree because it is not producing fruit, the gardener counsels patience. If properly tended, the barren fig tree may yet bear fruit.

As we journey through the Lent, these readings invite us, once again, for the repentance of the heart. Catechism of the Catholic Church calls it “interior repentance” – “a radical reorientation of our whole life, a return, a conversion to God with all our heart, an end of sin, a turning away from evil, with repugnance toward the evil actions we have committed. At the same time, it entails the desire and resolution to change one's life, with hope in God's mercy and trust in the help of his grace.” (Art1431)

Interior change is very difficult. It is easy for us to look outside and look at other's sins. But we have God's grace to take a deeper look into our heart. Take the effort to change the things within us that makes God sad. He is waiting with patience and mercy for our small efforts to bring forth fruits, like the gardener in the parable today.

THE MASS

THE PREPARATION OF THE ALTAR AND GIFTS

The preparation of the altar and gifts prepare us for celebrating the heart of the Mass, the Liturgy of the Eucharist. Until this point of the Mass our focus has been at the ambo or at the presider's chair. The altar is the focus of the Eucharistic sacrifice.

The Preparation of the Altar

The altar is prepared for the Eucharist. First, a corporal, from the Latin word "corpus" meaning body, is laid upon the altar. This is a large square white cloth which is made of a fine linen. Next, the chalice and the Roman Missal are set upon the altar that is now ready for the gifts of bread and wine.

The Presentation of Gifts

The Mass is the work of the people. In the offertory procession, we bring forward what we provide for the sacrifice, the bread, the wine, and the sacrificial offering for the poor and the work of the Church. We also place upon the altar the spiritual offerings in our hearts. To symbolize our offerings the deacon (priest) receives the gifts carried forth from among the assembly. At the altar, the deacon (priest) prepares the gifts by offering them to God. On solemn days the gifts may be incensed along with the altar, the cross, the ministers, and the faithful "so as to signify the Church's offering and prayer rising like incense in the sight of God." (GIRM 2000 #75)

The Prayer Over the Offerings

Often these prayers are prayed silently by the priest since the assembly or choir is usually involved in the preferred option of a chant or hymn to accompany the offering procession. These prayers originated from ancient Jewish table prayers. The priest raises the bread above the altar and prays; "Blessed are you, Lord God of all creation, for through your goodness we have received the bread we offer you: fruit of the earth and work of human hands, it will become for us the bread of life. R. Blessed be God for ever." (RM #23) The deacon (priest) prepares the chalice, a little water is comingled with the wine to recall the human and the divine natures of Christ in the mystery of the Incarnation; God sharing in our humanity. The deacon (priest) prays; "By the mystery of this water and wine may we come to share in the divinity of Christ, who humbled himself to share in our humanity" (RM #24) The priest raises the chalice above the altar and prays; "Blessed are you, Lord God of all creation, for through your goodness we have received the wine we offer you: fruit of the vine and work of human hands, it will become our spiritual drink. R. Blessed be God for ever." (RM #25) The priest, with a profound bow prays; "With humble spirit and contrite heart may we be accepted by you, O Lord, and may our sacrifice in your sight this day be pleasing to you, Lord God." (RM #26) The priest, assisted by the servers, then washes his hands as a symbol of internal purification in preparation for the Liturgy of the Eucharist. This is a small element retained from the Apostolic age when it was often a real necessity for the priest to wash his hands after receiving the gifts of the people, which may have included fresh food and live animals with the bread and wine! The priest prays softly: "Lord, wash away my iniquity; cleanse me from my sin." (RM#28)

The Invitation to Prayer

Our gifts are upon the altar, they have been prepared, the assembly is invited to stand in preparation for the Eucharistic Prayer to follow as the priest prays: "Pray, brothers and sisters, that my sacrifice and yours may be acceptable to God, the almighty Father." United as one, we reply; "May the Lord accept the sacrifice at your hands for the praise and glory of his name, for our good, and the good of all his holy Church." (RM #29)
