Education

Due to health-related issues with the former chair, the education committee did not fully function in 2015. With unfailing determination we will meet the following goals in 2016:

- Galvanize support for the shared visions established by Dayton Public Schools and the City of Learners in promoting a free, high quality, equitably-funded, public pre-K and K-12 education followed by diverse opportunities for accessible, affordable vocational or university education.
- Build community accountability by mobilizing city-wide actions in order to focus and sustain equitable opportunities for all learners.
- Organize stakeholders to spur action with a sense of urgency to turn collaboration and commitments into actions that promote continuous advancement.
- Encourage NAACP members and supporters to champion at least one of the specific initiatives.
