Dates Not Guaranteed While we make every effort to ensure tours are held on the date requested, a variety of factors may require a change. Circumstances including, but not limited to, weather and availability of guides and/or resources may impact the date requested. If the availability of your date changes, we will contact you as soon as possible and your tour will be rescheduled to a new date. Cancellation by You We understand that your plans may change. If you need to modify or cancel your tour, please contact us as soon as possible. Weather Advisories / Partial Tours Sometimes weather conditions may make a tour permissible but not advisable. If we advise that your tour may not be completed due to pending weather, we will offer to reschedule to another day or suggest an alternative activity. If you elect to begin the tour, no refund or exchange will be made available if the tour is unable to be completed due to weather or conditions of nature.

Cancellation by Us We reserve the right to cancel any tour prior to departure date for any reason including, but not limited to, insufficient number of participants, weather, or unavailability of equipment or guides. If that happens, we may offer an alternate date or activity of equal value. If you choose not to accept the alternatives, all refunds will be made accordingly and without further obligations. We shall not be held liable for any contingent costs incurred by you arising from the cancellation. You will receive a refund within 45 days following the scheduled departure date. We will not be liable for any claims, losses, damages, or costs sustained by you. Important Please carefully check the dates on your itinerary and contact us immediately if these are not correct. Your payment (either deposit or in full) acknowledges your acceptance of these policies.
