

GOD BLESS CHARLIE KIRK

Today, September 10, there is only one story.

It has saddened half the country and is sick and gory.

Charlie Kirk was shot dead today.

Thousands had come to hear what he had to say.

He was speaking to students at Utah Valley University.

He believed in freedom of speech and decency.

He spoke the truth clear and loud.

Many though thought free speech should be disallowed.

The Woke students hated what Charlie stood for.

They saw in his word of reason an incitement to war.

Charlie came in peace to offer rational debate.

Only to find that many of the Woke responded with hate.

Like Socrates, Charlie asked questions about what is right.

But instead of engaging in dialogue many wanted to fight.

They signed a petition to stop Charlie from coming to their school.

Freedom of speech they believed was the dream of a fool.

They couldn't stand it that Charlie spoke common sense.

They resented that his clear thinking made them look dense.

When Charlie claimed men should stay out of a woman's restroom

They went crazy with hatred and wished him dead in a tomb.

Though Charlie was smart he was also generous and kind.

He invited the students to reason with him and use their mind.

He really believed that his haters were human at heart.

He believed they were rational, reasonable, and smart.

He was convinced that there could be no truth without free speech.

He thought his arguments could their curious minds reach.

He invited those who disagreed with him to come up to the mic.

Even those who accused him of being a Nazi of the Third Reich.

Surely these students would listen to reasons when sound.

But it was mockery and anger that he often found.

On this lovely day in September everything came to an end.

All it took was one crazed lunatic with a gun who was not his friend.

Charlie was beginning to answer a question when a bullet stopped him.

Blood gushed from his throat and everything went dim.

Never again would Charlie engage in debate.

His reasons were helpless against such hate.

Charlie fell backwards and his life was no more.

His belief in reason and decency could not win the war.

But to think so is shallow and mistaken.

It is his killer who is the one who is dead and forsaken.

Charlie died defending the truth and shining his light.

He was a faithful servant to his God and fought the good fight.

He proclaimed Jesus Christ with intelligence and love.

He was not ashamed of his faith in the God above.

But the Woke media did not see it this way.

They said he was a fascist and led others astray.

They had to pretend to be saddened by his death.

But you could hear their hatred for him in every breath.

But that is not surprising since the dark hates the light.

God bless you Charlie, you fought the good fight.
