All About Wildflowers Co-Op

"When a flower doesn't bloom you fix
the environment in which it grows,
not the flower."

ALL ABOUT WILDFLOWERS

What is Wildflowers?:

The wildflower homeschool co-op is a place for families who have autistic children who can help their children bloom! This co-op is for families who are homeschooling their autistic children and want a community that will support you, encourage you, share resources, & understand the journey of autism. To then create a community for families where we can help one another bloom where we are planted! This co-op is NOT a drop off co-op. Each child will have to be accompanied by an adult during all meet-up times. This co-op is run by pockets of peace non-profit organization that is a 501(c)3 that is dedicated to serving & supporting the families with autistic children.

Who is it for?:

Wildflowers is for families of autistic children who are homeschooling and want support. All levels of autism are welcome, and all ages. Your child and family are wanted here and we can't wait to serve you!

Enrollment?:

In the state of South Carolina by the age of 6 your child needs to be legally enrolled in school. If you choose to homeschool your child does need to legally be enrolled. In wildflowers we will help you get your child all set up so you do not have any extra stress. We have a separate handout that walks through step by step how to enroll your child with the state, stress free! Once you are registered with the state you are required to keep your own home school records on file. As for enrollment in the wild flowers co-op we just ask you sign up with how many people will be attending so we can plan accordingly.

ALL ABOUT WILDFLOWERS

What is the cost?:

FREE! As a fellow autism mom I understand how much money parents of special needs children spend on therapies, doctors appointments, and daily life. We do not want this to be an added burden but something to help you and your family bloom free of charge. The only cost would be to legally enroll your child with the state of SC for homeschool annually.

Where will it be?:

This co-op is located in upstate, Simpsonville South Carolina. Meet ups will be in Simpsonville SC, we will also do field trips all over Greenville.

When?:

We will be doing meet ups on Fridays. For dates, times, location please check the wildflowers Co-Op facebook page, our website, or reach out to Connie Brown (720-202-4902).

Curriculum?:

Autism is a spectrum. Each child has different needs, wants, verbal skills, academic skills, therapy needs, and behavioral needs. This why we do not have a set curriculum, because one size do not fit all when it comes to autism. Rather we encourage to share all our resources and different curriculums being used. We hope with sharing our different lesson plans and curriculum we can help each family meet the exact needs of their child and their family.

What will the Co-Op look like?:

When we meet in home we will meet in my home (Connie Brown). My home is sensory friendly, has a fully fenced yard, a sensory room, crash pad, wi-fi, sensory bins, and will have anything else you may need! The in home meet ups we will also offer brunch, coffee, and community. This will give kids the opportunity to socialize with each other, however that looks for each child! We will also be sharing resources, curriculum, and lesson plans. This way no matter where your child is you can create a home school program for their specific needs. We also believe that our children deserve to do all things typical children can do, like field trips! We will be scheduling outings to various places together. This way we can all support each other and enjoy an awesome day out in places that may seem daunting alone! This is a safe place. Safe place for i-pads, AAC devices, stimming, rocking, sensory seeking, and anything that makes your child exactly who they are. Come as you are, and be loved for exactly who you are.
